WALLACE REFUSES TO RELEASE FUND 'WITHOUT STRINGS'

Engineer MacDonald Ordered To Draw Up Conditions Under Which Highway Money Will Be Given to Georgia.

VINSON AND TARVER CLASH AT HEARING

Vinson's 'Compromise' Proposal Attacked; Roosevelt Asks MacDonald To Be 'Lenient.'

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—After two extended conferences with the Georgia congressional delegation, Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace today declined to accede to demands that upwards of $10,000,000 be made available to the federal highway construction fund be released immediately without administrative restrictions.

At the same time, however, he ordered Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the United States bureau of public roads, which comes under the agricultural department, to prepare a formal memorandum setting forth the exact conditions under which it is proposed to release the money to Georgia.

The memorandum will be drawn with a view of submitting it to President Roosevelt and in its preparation Mr. MacDonald was instructed to make the conditions as liberal as possible.

In declining to make the money immediately available, Secretary Wallace disregarded the wishes of practically the entire state delegation, as well as Governor Eugene Talmadge, who has served notice that he will not consent to an arrangement for supervising federal highway expenditures which amounts to discrimination against Georgia.

Vinson, Tarver Clash. The meeting with Secretary Wallace today, called by Senator Walter F. George, senior Georgia member, after Mr. MacDonald had indicated an unwillingness to release the funds without restrictive measures as to supervision, developed a spirited exchange between Representative Carl Vinson, of Milledgeville, dean of the delegation in the lower house, and representative Malcolm T. Tarver, of Dalton.

Acting as spokesman for the state congressional group, Senator George at the outset of the meeting voiced demands that the $10,000,000 be released to the state without any of the restrictions proposed by Chief MacDonald. After Secretary Wallace had indicated sufficiently that he was not prepared to go this far Representative Vinson took the position that the fund should be expended in any event and asked Mr. MacDonald to draft a formal memorandum outlining definitely just what conditions to immediate release he would impose.

Representative Tarver took vigorous exception to the Vinson proposal, declaring that the Milledgeville man had sought to compromise the delegation which had agreed, he said, to make a united stand for release of the money on the same basis as to other states.

GEORGIA SENATORS LAY COTTON PLAN BEFORE WALLACE

George and Russell Lead Southerners in Presenting 4-Point Program to Aid Price.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS. WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Wide-spread measures for improving the cotton and general commodity price level were discussed during a lengthy conference today between Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace and a group of southern congressional leaders, including practically the entire Georgia delegation.

Arrangements for the conference were made by Senator Walter F. George, senior Georgia member, who had outlined to President Roosevelt certain definite steps which he said would be necessary with respect to cotton if the administration's great national recovery program is to prove successful in the south.

Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., and six other members of the Georgia congressional group came to Washington especially to go over the situation with the agricultural department head as well as to voice demands that the United States bureau of public roads make immediately available to $10,000,000 due the state as its share of the federal highway construction funds.

Russian Deal Discussed. Secretary Wallace was found favorable to a policy that the American government undertake steps for the sale of upward of a million bales of southern cotton to Russia as a means of reducing the large surplus held by the country.

He said he was willing to discuss the matter with officials of the agricultural readjustment administration to see if credit facilities for the purchase of the cotton could be arranged through existing general agencies, such as the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Equaling in importance the proposed Russian deal, Mr. Wallace was asked by Senator George and his associates to formulate and announce at once, or as early as practicable, the government's cotton production curtailment program for the next three years. It was also urged that the curtailment be made much more drastic than that called for in the current year's crop, which provides for a 30 per cent reduction.

By announcing at this time the programs for 1934, 1935 and 1936, the world would be informed of the cotton production plans of the United States and the prospective supply thus revealed would have a highly beneficial effect on present prices, it was contended.

Two Other Measures. Upon the department head were: Readjustment of the processing tax on cotton and floor stocks by permitting textile operators to graduate their payments of the tax—a step that is designed to impose less hardship on the mills in making their cotton.

Decision of Detroit Jury Follows Couzens Charges U. S. Knew Truth on Weak Institutions.

By L. A. FARRELL, Staff Correspondent. CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—More than 2,000 beaming Georgians are making merry about Chicago tonight in preparation and anticipation of Georgia Day Tuesday at the Century of Progress Exposition, the greatest World's Fair this World's Fair city has ever staged.

State street, the leading thoroughfare of the metropolis, assumed a Peachtree atmosphere today as the folks from down south took things in from one end of the Loop to the other. A person standing on the corner of State and Madison might well have been parked at Peachtree and Marietta. He saw so many Georgians he felt at home.

Two special trains arrived this morning. One carried more than 300 persons, including Governor and Mrs. Talmadge, state officials and members of the governor's military staff. The other bore those who came on the trip sponsored by the Georgia Century of Progress commission.

No Welcome on Hand. When the Georgia trains pulled in this morning there was not a single official to meet the Georgia executive and his staff. Not baffled one whit, the official visitors to a Century of Progress staged a ceremony all their own with the 42-piece band of the 122d Infantry of the national guard serenading their commander-in-chief.

With no motorcycle escort on hand to head the parade to the Loop, Governor Talmadge herded his family into a taxicab and sped away to the Morrison hotel, where they were given a tower bungalow for quarters. Governor Talmadge told reporters that there is not much chance the Efforts to obtain adoption by Fulton county of the Ellis health law Monday afternoon were defeated when the Fulton county grand jury by unanimous vote decided not to recommend that the law be placed in effect in this county.

The grand jury's refusal to recommend adoption of the law followed the appearance before the body of a large delegation of dairymen, who charged that the law would set up a board with authority to require pasteurization of all milk.

Others who opposed the adoption of the law included members of the Fulton county commission, representatives of the Taxpayers' League, the real estate board, the apartment house owners and managers, and the South Side Civic Federation.

Those appearing in behalf of the law included representatives of the Fulton County Medical Society, which passed resolutions favoring the Ellis law last December, and the League of Women Voters.

One of the arguments in favor of the law was that it would require stricter examinations of school children. Dairymen led by A. S. Nance, president of the Georgia Pure Milk League, charged that the law would set up a board with unlimited authority, which would be made subordinate to the county council.

Also appearing against the proposed law was Dr. J. P. Kennedy, city health officer, whose department, it was said, would be made subordinate to the new county board of health.

Protestants charged that the proposed new board would be a taxing authority imposing an additional tax. Adoption of the law would require approval by two successive grand juries, the May-June term jury having approved the statute. The matter could be brought up again for ratification of the law by two successive grand juries, it was said.

COAL, AUTO CODES FOR NRA PROGRAM NEAR COMPLETION

Information To Be Obtained on Recent Price Rises as Board Moves to Prevent Profiteering.

By JAMES P. SELVAGE. WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—A new objective—the placing in the hands of President by tomorrow, perhaps, and Wednesday at the latest, codes of fair competition for the coal and automobile industries—tonight was the aim of Hugh S. Johnson.

Both codes were nearing completion, NRA officials said, and at behind the scenes conferences, the administration was seeking an agreement which would add chapters of these two major industries to the recovery lockstep.

If this can be obtained, Johnson, the administrator, was expected to set off on a second dramatic flight to Hyde Park, N. Y., to report to his chief another milestone passed in the campaign for re-employment through minimum wages and maximum working hours.

Meanwhile, the cabinet advisory board of the recovery administration decided as a step to protect the public against profiteering to request all industries now operating under codes to submit information on recent price increases.

In addition, at the suggestion of the newly created central statistical board of the government, each code approved in the future would include provisions requiring the submission of such statistical information as may be necessary to the administrator.

This decision marked the first of the long-planned moves by Johnson to curb on rising prices and prevent them soaring upward faster than the purchasing power of the nation can be stimulated.

This, the administrator contends, would be fatal to the program since buying ability insufficient to consume the fruits of industry has been one of the underlying causes of the depression.

Statistical Board Proposed. In seeking these statistics upon rising prices, the advisory board followed the course mapped by Johnson in proposing the central statistical board. At the same time, it ignored recommendations of Professor William F. Ogburn, resigned member of the NRA's consumers advisory board, that a separate statistical agency be created to watch prices.

Under the resolution of the board, the administration would not inaugurate a reporting service which would duplicate information already collected by other agencies of the federal government.

Attorney General Cummings, who presided at the meeting, said several instances of "unconscionable increases" in prices had been reported. Through the early part of the day quiet for the first time in weeks over the long corridors of the NRA headquarters. The terrific strain of last week when oil, steel and lumber codes were jammed into effectiveness was missing.

But it was only a temporary breathing spell for the hard-pushed staff. By nightfall the rush was on again to complete the coal and automobile codes.

Hollywood Strike Studied. Before the national labor board, created by President Roosevelt to bring industrial peace during the economic emergency, was held today.

Miss Delphine Popham, daughter of the socially prominent J. W. Miss Popham resided with her parents on Peachtree road in Atlanta until they moved to Miami several years ago. Her father is a prominent capitalist. She is a sister of the late Mrs. Frank L. Stanton Jr.

LAUNDRIES BOOST WAGES, PAY ROLLS UNDER NRA CODE

31 Concerns Here to Hike Pay of 5,000, Add Hundreds of New Workers; Drive Deferred.

The blue eagle of the NRA feathered his nest with more gold for workers Monday when 31 Atlanta laundries began operations under a temporary code approved Saturday by General Hugh Johnson at NRA Washington headquarters, according to announcement by R. J. Snow, secretary-treasurer of the Laundry Owners' Association of Atlanta.

Mr. Snow said that some 5,000 workers now employed would receive higher pay under the code and that several hundreds would be added to pay rolls in order to conform to minimum working hours. The temporary code provides a differential in 11 southern states to conform to peculiar labor conditions.

While pay rolls were increased in various laundries from 31 to 60 per cent, the average will be an increase of about 35 per cent, Mr. Snow said. The new scales provide a minimum of 14 cents an hour for female workers and 20 cents an hour for male help.

Ice Plants Under Code. Another group reporting operations under a code were the 18 ice plants here. Going into effect Sunday, the agreement will affect between 600 and 1,000 workers in plants in Atlanta and suburbs. The working hours of ice employees will be 40 hours during the summer months and 40 hours during the other seasons for laborers, while office help will work 40 hours.

While the exact number of additional employees needed could not be determined, officials said a considerable increase would be effected. Other trade groups signing 100 per cent are the Atlanta Wholesale Grocers' Association, the Wholesale Dry Goods Association and the Southern Photo-Engravers' Association.

As campaign headquarters received reports of the block-to-block canvasses were carried forward. Acting upon advice from Washington, the campaign of all business houses has been deferred until Monday in order that Atlanta may start the same hour other cities in the nation launch their drives for the Direct Drive.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will direct the canvass with some 500 workers in the field. Members will meet at the Junior Chamber at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and a luncheon at the Ansley hotel at noon Thursday. In the latter meeting they will be addressed by Mayor Key, Robert E. Maddox, campaign chairman, and libraries for both the white and negro races.

Mr. Foreman was graduated from the University of Georgia with the degree of bachelor of arts in 1921. He received his doctor of philosophy degree from Columbia University in 1932. He served on the commission on inter-racial co-operation for two years and is now one of the directors of the Phelps-Stokes foundation in New York. Mr. Foreman is the author of "Environmental Factors in Negro Elementary Education."

It is believed that his knowledge of negro problems gained from his extensive experience and travel in the interests of the Rosenwald Fund brought about his appointment to the responsible position in the interior department.

Mr. Foreman spent the last year in Russia studying the situation and conditions there for the Rosenwald Fund. He returned to New York August 15 with his bride, the former Miss Marie Fraser, of Canada, whom he married in Geneva just prior to sailing for America.

SEPARATE BOARD TO DIRECT WORK OF CANCER CLINIC

Key, Millican, White, Leibman and Hirsch Will Compose Trustee Body in Divorce of Ward From Control by Grady Board.

City council Monday afternoon overrode by decisive votes vetoes of Mayor James L. Key to two ordinances creating a special board of trustees for the Albert Steiner cancer ward and repealing opening and closing hours for retail grocers.

In establishment of the separate board to manage Steiner the administration lost its first major legislative battle in many months. Immediately after the vote had been passed in the Steiner controversy, council selected Alderman G. Everett Millican, of the tenth ward, and Councilman John A. White, of the fourth, as council members of the newly-created Steiner board. Other members are the mayor and Joseph H. Hirsch and Milton Lieberman, Steiner trustees. Key presided at the election. Twenty-six voted to override Key's veto of the Steiner paper and 10 to sustain it.

The mayor was not "especially interested" in the repeal of the ordinance regulating the open hours for grocers and close their stores. The ordinance was not considered by political observers as a repudiation of the administration.

Will Fix Own Hours. In revoking the old ordinance the council left it optional on individual operators as to the time they will open and close their stores. The council later declined to take action on another ordinance which followed the special mandate issued by Key when he overrode the repeal measure. It provided for 73.5 hours of operation a week. The paper was sent to the ordinance committee for consideration.

Council also voted unanimously to make purchases after September 1 only from merchants flying the blue eagle, symbol of the NRA.

Vote on the Steiner ordinance, the motion being to pass the measure over the mayor's veto, follows: For: Scott, Tiller, Bowden, Alderman, Reynolds, Scrighthill, Millican, Murphy, Gilliam, Leach, Cobb, Leach, Caba, Knight, Berman, White, Knight, Childs, Owen, Hastings, Martin.

Clark Foreman Is Appointed To Interior Department Post

Clark Foreman, son of Robert L. Foreman, prominent Atlantian, and a nephew of Clark Howell, editor of The Constitution, Monday was appointed as adviser to the department of the interior on the economic status of negroes, it was announced by Secretary Ickes.

His duties will include keeping the secretary of the department of the interior advised of the manner and extent to which negroes are sharing in the results of the operation of the national industrial recovery act.

Mr. Foreman's appointment came as a surprise to his father and Mr. Howell, neither knowing of his selection nor that he was even being considered for the post until press services brought the news.

For the last three years Mr. Foreman has been assistant secretary of the Rosenwald Fund which was founded by Julius Rosenwald, of Chicago, with the stipulation that the entire amount of $25,000,000 be spent in 25 years. Mr. Foreman had acted as agent for the fund in the south, the money being used to aid schools

Crash of Trucks and Blast Kill Four and Injure Twenty

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 21.—(P)—Raked by flames and blown apart by an explosion of highly inflammable chemicals, two trucks carried four picnickers to their death today after they crashed on the Wilmington-Philadelphia pike at Holly Oak, Del., six miles north of here. Twenty other merry-makers were injured, three seriously, in the collision of their truck with another vehicle loaded with drums of chemicals, described as soluble cotton, an alcoholic base used as a raw material in the chemical industry.

The dead were Jennie Chlasta, 19, of Trainer, Pa.; Daniel Mahoney, 20; Gaskill, 20, all of Chester, Pa. The injured all were from Chester and Marcus Hook, Pa.

Henry J. Knott, driver of the chemical truck, told police he "suddenly saw the other truck loom up." His vehicle crashed into the rear of the other truck, which Knott said bore no tail light.

Both vehicles were torn apart by the explosion soon after the crash. Several automobiles were tossed from the highway by the detonation, and a few were burned.

Those were ignited and screaming victims hurled themselves into roadside ditches.

The picnickers were returning from an outing. Police said their truck, carrying 26 persons, had stopped at the side of the road when the crash occurred.

Straw strewn on the floor burst into flame, making a flaming pyre of the vehicle.

Lieutenant Ray Fisher of Indiana state police, who, with State Patrolman Fred Morley, arrested Schaub in Chicago earlier in the day, said "we have all the evidence we desire" to prove that Schaub was the hit-and-run driver.

RAIL GROUPS RESPOND TO EASTMAN'S APPEAL

Committees Seek Way to Consolidate a Pool Traffic and Services.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(P)—Joseph B. Eastman, the railroad coordinator, announced today that communications from regional co-ordinating committees of the carriers indicated their co-operation in his desire that they direct the survey into economies possible through the consolidation or pooling of traffic or services.

Eastman said carriers in each region were undertaking collectively this survey into the chances of saving by unifying facilities or using them jointly.

He quoted the secretary of the eastern committee as writing: "I have been instructed to advise you that the co-ordinating committee will take immediate steps to bring about, as soon as practicable, the reorganization of the general committee and other related committees so as to bring their activities under the co-ordinating committee."

The secretary of the western committee said it would organize "the waste prevention and other related committees" to bring them under the co-ordinating committee. A similar reply was received from the southern committee which indicated, however, that it differed with the co-ordinating committee upon his construction of the law.

Simultaneously with Eastman's announcement, R. H. Lockwood, his director of the section of purchases, issued a statement defining the objective of his work. He said in part:

"The general objective of this section is elimination of avoidable waste in the purchase and application of railway materials, equipment and supplies. Since it seems evident that standardization and simplification of physical units and methods will result in important economies, a large part of the work will be directed along these lines, particularly during the initial period."

"The railroads individually and through the American Railway Association have made substantial progress in standardizing many items notably in connection with equipment which must be interchangeable in use."

Texas Guinan Plans 'Sister Aimee' Role

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 21.—(P)—Texas Guinan said today she would appear in a Broadway stage play, "Sister Aimee," when she completes a film role doing herself in Walter Winchell's keyhole drama.

Miss Guinan said she hoped to confer with Mrs. Aimee McPherson Hutton when the evangelist returns from her midwestern tour and occupy the Angelus Temple pulpit for a time, preaching the Guinan gospel based on the Golden Rule.

Simplification, meaning elimination of unnecessary and immaterial differences in similar items, will in most cases result in direct savings in first cost and in numerous indirect savings in handling and application."

Lockwood said the work would be done in close cooperation with the railway association and the American Railway Engineering Association.

St. Louis Opens War On 'Sleeping Sickness'

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21.—(UP)—Health officials opened war tonight against mosquitoes in an effort to prevent the spread of "sleeping sickness," which has taken 13 lives in this vicinity and one in Kansas City.

Lockwood said the work would be done in close cooperation with the railway association and the American Railway Engineering Association.

Doctors considered it significant that the disease began to spread soon after an unusual number of mosquitoes was noticed.

While the officials held lengthy consultations and sought means to prevent further spread of the disease, 60 persons slept in a stupor in an isolation ward of the county hospital. A total of 137 persons have been treated for the mysterious disease since July 30. Of these, 13 have died, 69 are in the hospital and 55 have been sent to their homes but still are under observation.

SUGAR HEADS SUBMIT REDRAFT OF QUOTA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(P)—Sugar interests today submitted a redraft of their quota agreement to Secretary Wallace as the basis for a marketing plan for the industry.

A letter today asking the secretary to proceed with the final redrafting of the proposed pact was signed by the representatives of the domestic beet growers and processors, Louisiana cane growers and processors, Hawaii and Puerto Rico and domestic cane sugar refiners.

BRITISH PILOT'S PLANE WRECKED IN ICELAND

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 21.—(P)—John Grierson, British pilot who has been flying in slow stages from England to the United States, wrecked his plane when attempting to take off for Greenland Sunday. He was not injured.

A wave broke over one of the floats and smashed it. The aviator was picked up by a motorboat which hurried to his rescue.

Grierson, of the British royal air force, left Brough airbase August 5 on the first leg of an intended flight to New York. He reached Iceland by way of the Orkney and Faroe

HIGHEST U. S. INCOME SINCE WAR INDICATED

Statistics for First 17 Days of August Reveal Material Increase.

By RICHARD L. GRIDLEY. WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(UP)—A torrent of miscellaneous internal revenue payments, unsurpassed since war-time, enabled the federal government to live within its income in the first 17 days of August, and some economists forecast as a result that the peak of the depression tax burden had been reached.

Statistics for the 17-day period available tonight indicated that internal revenue collections in August exclusive of income taxes, would reach the highest level since war days. Increased business activity and new taxes, especially that on beer, account for the higher revenue.

In the first 17 days of August, $88,873,198 poured into the government's treasury in beer, cigarette, gasoline and similar taxes, against $68,274,906 in the first 17 days of July. July's miscellaneous internal revenue quota was the heaviest for any month since August, 1922.

Total income from August 1 to 17 was $123,822,250, while ordinary revenues were $123,732,428. In addition, $83,920,093 spent for "emergency needs," but this will be paid for by amortization over a long period and is not counted as current expenditure under the budget.

U. S. EXPLORER PLANS MALAYSIA EXPEDITION

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(UP)—Major Howard S. Reed, explorer and big game hunter who has probably bagged more man-eating tigers than any living man, is in New York this week making preparations for a new expedition into Malaysia where the tigers are once again killing off about 100 natives each season.

Major Reed, a bulky man who has been roaming the globe for the past 33 years, was raised on a ranch in Colorado and was a protégé of "The Bill," one of the west's most famous scouts and trappers. He learned to stalk the mountain lion when he was a boy and used the same methods in hunting Bengal tigers.

AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHY BANNED BY GERMANY

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—(P)—The aviation ministry issued a decree today stating that passengers must surrender cameras during airplane flights over German territory to prevent photographing from the air.

Aviation Minister Hermann Wilhelm Goering issued an order last June 24 for construction of two fast police scouting planes to pursue and establish the identity of any possible invading air raider. This followed a police report that unidentified foreign planes flew over Berlin dropping handbills which insulted the government.

Germany was denied an air force under the terms of the Versailles peace treaty.

The tractor division of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. is using Goodyear rubber tires on its tractors. The result, the company says, is greater speed in farm operations and a lower expense. U.S. Funds Are Ready For Mississippi Roads

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 21.—(P)—Mississippi's $10,000,000 NRA road program was assured of an early start tonight as state highway director E. D. Kenna announced approval by the United States bureau of public roads of two projects proposed by the state highway commission under the federal act.

The projects were approved from the district headquarters at Montgomery. The projects approved today are: Federal aid project 221B—Leflore and Tallahatchie counties, 5 1/2 miles of grading, drainage and bridging, between Greenwood and Clarksdale, at an estimated cost of $76,025.05.

F. A. P. 40—Monroe county, 3.73 miles of grading, drainage and bridging, Aberdeen to Columbus, at an estimated cost of $112,941.57.

SHRIMP PICKERS RENEW STRIKE IN MISSISSIPPI

BILOXI, Miss., Aug. 21.—(P)—A strike of a thousand women shrimp pickers, apparently settled today by the return to work of many of the women, resumed an impassioned fight. It was reported that the factory-men had offered the pickers a rate of 10 cents for 14 pounds of picked meat, but that the women had finally turned down the offer and asked 10 cents for 12 pounds.

Factorymen said they were threatened with a loss of over 2,000 barrels of shrimp worth about $6 a barrel, which will spoil in a day or so if not packed. They were hopeful of at least a temporary agreement so this could be packed and they would halt additional work until a permanent settlement could be effected.

Last season Louisiana factories were at work seven weeks before those in Biloxi owing to a strike of fishermen here. The women's organization was formed with the aid of Roy Hepler, leader of the fishermen.

N. Y. Legislature Votes Lehman Kidnaping Bill

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(P)—Governor Lehman's kidnaping bill, providing a death penalty for kidnapers when their victim has not been returned prior to trial, was passed by the assembly tonight and sent to the governor for his signature.

The bill lost some of its teeth in the legislative hopper, because the governor's plan was to bar negotiations with kidnapers and the payment of ransom, under severe penalties. This provision was changed, so that negotiating with kidnapers or paying ransom does not become a felony, provided the persons involved do not withhold information from the authorities.

Assemblyman Louis A. Cavillier, New York democrat, offered the view that all kidnapers ought to be "lynched."

REVOLUTIONIZING OF MANUFACTURING IS SEEN BY HOWE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(P)—Louis McHenry Howe, secretary to President Roosevelt, said in an interview Sunday the administration homestead subsistence plan would revolutionize manufacturing in two decades.

The chief executive has allocated $25,000,000 from public work funds to set up urban unemployed on small homesteads near industrial centers where they can raise their own food and work whenever jobs are unavailable.

Howe said the plan was based on the conviction that many cities had outgrown their capacity for housing additional factories and for providing decent living conditions for their workers. It was intended, he added, to solve the problem of the part-time worker who must be expected to stand seasonal idleness. There will always be unemployment, Howe said, but it need not always mean breadlines.

40,000 JOBS FORESEEN ON HIGHWAY PROJECTS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(P)—The bureau of public roads advised the public works administration Sunday that more than 40,000 men will get jobs immediately on the $483 national highway recovery projects approved to date from the $3,300,000,000 public works fund.

This number will be employed on specific projects for which $32,398,543 has been set aside. The bureau estimated the disbursement of the full $400,000,000 road fund from the public works money would result in employment of nearly 500,000 men.

Assignments to road projects under funds allotted each state from the $400,000,000 fund have been completed except for Georgia. A dispute between Governor Talmadge and the state highway commission delayed the road projects in that state.

MEDICAL GROUP PLANS BABY SELLING PROBE

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 21.—(P)—Dr. Carl Simpson, secretary of the Tulsa County Medical Society, said today a written report of alleged operations of "baby markets" in Tulsa will be studied at the next meeting, September 11.

Mrs. Mabel Bassett, state commissioner of charities and corrections, is preparing a report of her investigations, which she said disclosed babies were "sold" to foster parents by three physicians to cover hospital costs of girl mothers.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED IN NEW YORK CRASH

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(P)—Four persons were killed and three others injured, two perhaps fatally, when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into a tree on East Main street Sunday.

The automobile, which police said was traveling at high speed, failed to make a left turn and swerved off the road. Striking a tree stump it bounded into the air and crashed sideways against another tree.

Those killed were: Jeremiah Halpin, the driver; James Lynch, Patrick Savage, and Margaret Savage, 10-year-old daughter of Savage, all of Rye.

Bank Has Hard Time Paying Out Deposits

CANAL POINT, Fla., Aug. 21.—(P)—Cashier Jess M. Elliott has been having a hard time getting people to take their money out of the Bank of Canal Point. The bank some time ago decided to stop business and to pay all depositors in full. Since then, says Elliott, about 100 accounts have been closed, but more than half of the depositors have failed to call for their money.

TARIFF DISCUSSION WILL BEGIN TODAY

Colombia First Nation on List in Effort to Bolster Trade.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(P)—The first of the special trade agreement negotiations between the United States and foreign countries under President Roosevelt's broad program to stimulate international business opens here tomorrow at the state department with Colombia.

Eyes of diplomats from other nations will center on the discussions for indications as to what to expect when their representatives talk over bi-lateral agreements with this country.

Minister Fabio Lozano, of Colombia, will meet with Undersecretary Phillips shortly before noon to open the formal negotiations. After that, Assistant Secretary Caffery, in charge of Latin American affairs, will continue the work for the United States. Minister Lozano, assisted by experts to arrive here soon, including Dr. Pomponio Guzman, diplomat and economist, will represent Colombia.

Under the plans outlined previously by Secretary Hull, negotiations with Brazil and Argentina will follow, along with other Latin American nations. Sweden and Portugal also are to be consulted.

The plan includes the sending of an American delegation to the Pan-American conference at Montevideo, Uruguay, in December, where the work of framing bi-lateral tariff agreements to be submitted to the January session of congress will be expedited.

Special interest attaches to the negotiations in Latin American countries because they will give the first opportunity to observe the practical working out of the reciprocal policy which President Roosevelt advocated at the beginning of his term in the White House.

You're always saying
Chesterfields taste better

—I wish you'd tell me why

Well, I've worked in tobacco; I've manufactured cigarettes . . . and I'll tell you why Chesterfields taste better.

For a cigarette to have a good taste, it must have first the right kind of Domestic tobacco. This means ripe, mellow, sweet tobacco, filled with Southern sunshine. Then, blended and cross-blended with this tobacco there must be the right quantity of the right kinds of aromatic Turkish tobacco . . . tobacco that has a pleasing flavor and aroma.

Aroma, as you know, adds to the taste. It's just like the pleasing aroma from certain foods. It's appetizing. It makes the food taste better. It makes the cigarette taste better.

Then again, for a cigarette to have a good taste, it must be made right. The size, the cigarette paper, everything about it must be right.

Just try Chesterfields.

Airplane Follows Silver Ford On Its 10,000-Mile Economy Run

The Wofford Oil Company's Wofford plane, a Bellanca, piloted by Wray B. Smith, followed on Monday the Silver Ford V-8 economy car on its 10,000-mile economy run. In the ship were W. L. Jr. and W. L. Moore, sons of Wiley L. Moore, president of the Wofford Oil Company which is supplying gasoline and oil for the run, and two Constitution representatives.

The plane took off at Candler field at 1:45 o'clock, and first flew over the Ford near McDonough. From that time on it kept the car in sight as it passed through McDonough, Jackson, Griffin, Hampton, Lovejoy and Jonesboro. Back at Candler field at 2:20 o'clock, the plane took off again and followed the car through Newnan, Carrollton and intervening towns.

The plane made anywhere from 80 to 150 miles an hour, and at frequent intervals it was necessary to turn back and circle several times to enable the Ford to catch up. All along the route people were enthusiastic spectators of the Silver Ford and the Bellanca flying above it, at times 2,500 feet up.

The Silver Ford is keeping up its unusual record. On Monday night it had covered 6,332 miles of its scheduled test, and was making it at an average of 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline, and with a normal supply of oil.

This car visits various towns every day. The results of the test will be announced after it has been completed. It was intended to show the superiority of modern automobile engineering, and the durability of the up-to-date car.

It used to be that 300 miles was considered a good record, and then the most expensive cars were used, at a high cost of oil and gasoline. Now the Silver Ford runs close to 1,000 miles a day, and at a small cost.

The test was begun last Monday a week ago. So far the car has suffered no accident, breakdown or mishap beyond an occasional tire puncture.

Ten motorists using unusual caution in navigating Atlanta's streets Monday were noted by a Constitution reporter and will be rewarded with guest tickets to Lovejoy's Grand for their fidelity to traffic regulations.

Again today a reporter will search the downtown streets and will note the numbers of automobiles driven with exceptional care. Their names will be added to The Constitution's careful drivers honor roll and guest tickets to Lovejoy's Grand will be mailed to them this afternoon.

Those added to Monday's honor roll include:

H. L. Richardson, 100 Peachtree street; Cecilia Smith, 36 Woodcrest avenue; E. H. Edwards, 415 West Peachtree street; R. V. Hallett, 860 Ponce de Leon avenue; W. E. Cox, Route 4; Roy Collier, 850 Peachtree road; J. D. Sanders, 148 Hale street; R. G. Duggitt, Alabama hall, Emory University; G. W. C. Hightower, 1400 Newton street; Logan R. Castleberry, 1007 Stewart avenue.

Two Charged With Kidnaping and Robbing J. K. Ottley, Atlanta Banker.

Cases of William R. Delinski and Pryor Bowen, who are charged with kidnaping and robbing John K. Ottley Sr., president of the First National Bank of Atlanta, Monday were set for Tuesday, September 12, before Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court. Application for a reduction in Bowen's $20,000 bond was renewed Monday by his attorney, Leu B. Guilbeau, who obtained a subpoena for Mr. Ottley. Guilbeau said that when the application was set on two previous occasions, Mr. Ottley was ill, but that he understands he is now able to attend court. The matter is set for Saturday before Judge Humphries.

The full term of court will open Monday, September 11, with Judge Humphries in charge of the criminal division. A visiting judge will preside in a special division of criminal court. There are approximately 200 untried criminal felony and murder cases include two women. Mrs. Peggy Lee Monroe is charged with killing Jack M. Cason in a downtown hotel, and Mrs. Bertha Virginia Smith is charged with killing Clara Wallace, a negro girl. Miss Lively is charged with the murder of his wife, Mrs. Rosa Lively, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Rethy Kell.

'Old Hoss Sale' Nets Police Pensions $700

The semi-annual "old hoss sale" of the police department Monday netted the police pension fund approximately $700 as stolen firearms, automobiles, circular saws and other junk went on the auction block in the rear of the police station.

Patrolman W. R. Reynolds acted as auctioneer and prevailed on many to buy perfectly useless things. Every six months the sale is held to rid the station house of articles accumulated in the period which have not been identified and claimed by proper owners. Nine automobiles, (only one of which would run) were sold.

Roosevelt Relaxes at Hyde Park
But Keeps Weather Eye on NRA

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(AP)—President Roosevelt indulged in the relaxation of a real vacation today but with an ever watchful eye on the national recovery drive.

He is expecting the code fixing hours of work and wages for the long-troubled bituminous coal industry a day or so and in the meanwhile he is resting from his busy week at the capital.

There were two callers today at the summer White House overlooking the Hudson river. Mrs. Emmett Rand, of Salisbury, Conn., started painting the official portrait of the president to be hung in the White House. Dr. James Alexander Miller, an old friend from Natick, Conn., was invited for a social visit on his way through here by motor.

Complete confidence that last week's push put the recovery drive over the top with the signing up of oil, steel and lumber for the new working agreements, is aiding Mr. Roosevelt in his attempt for two full weeks of rest.

He has given the word that the coal code must be coming along right quickly and there is every expectation here that General Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator, will be coming up tomorrow or Wednesday with the charter.

Tomorrow the president will combine business with pleasure. He and Mrs. Roosevelt will entertain Norman H. Davis, ambassador-at-large to Europe, and Mrs. Davis at luncheon and Secretary Woodin and Mrs. W. in dinner.

He is sending Mr. Davis back to Geneva to seek a success of the 18-month-old world disarmament conference. His ideas will be outlined in detail to Davis and these ideas follow pretty closely the proposal for arms reduction put forward by Great Britain. With Mr. Woodin, his secretary of the treasury, the president will have opportunity to go over completely the government's fiscal affairs and the delicate question of inflation—a policy that is still regarded on the basis of if and when as necessary.

Heart-to-Heart Talk.

Also, Mr. Roosevelt undoubtedly is going to have a heart-to-heart talk with Mr. Woodin about his health and his desire to continue at the helm of the treasury.

There is a very close feeling between these two men. If the president reaches the conclusion that a return to the trying treasury office might slow up the recovery of Woodin, he undoubtedly will not permit it. Otherwise, the office is Woodin's as long as he will keep it.

On Wednesday Mr. Roosevelt plans a 75-mile motor trip to the Ten Mile Boy Scout camp on the Delaware river. The whole day will be spent in this drive.

MRS. B. R. ANDERSON TO BE BURIED TODAY

Arrangements for the outing in Savannah were made by P. O. Holmbeck, traveling freight and passenger agent of the Burlington Lines and president of the club, and F. L. Nelson, district passenger agent of the West Point Route and Georgia Railroad, chairman of the entertainment committee.

'New Deal' Hen Lays Complete Egg in Egg

W. E. Butler, Pantheressville merchant and filling station operator, has a "new deal" hen and brought his proof to The Constitution Monday afternoon.

A complete egg within an egg was the basis of Mr. Butler's claim. The rare double egg (which Mr. Butler denied was laid by a Blue Eagle but asserted was the product of a Rhode Island Red hen), was found last week by Joe Butler, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Butler.

Both eggs had ordinary shells and yolks, the outer egg being more than twice the size of the inner one, which was only slightly smaller than the outer.

Mr. Butler has ten hens, and now he wants to know just which fowl laid the "new deal" egg.

FOOD HABITS OF BATS.

A most interesting article appears in the current issue of the Journal of Mammalogy by Lawrence H. Dunn, entitled "Observations on the Carnivorous Habits of the Spear-Nosed Bat, Phyllostomus Nasutus Fumaculis Allen, in Panama." This author sets forth in great detail the exact food habits of a species of bat, attempting to learn by experiment just what the habits of the animal might be in the wild state. Graphic statements, for a scientific account, describe the crunching of bones as the bat makes way with mice and birds, leaving only a few feathers or a bit of tail-bones to show for his meals.

Our local species of bats are insectivorous, and their teeth are adapted to that type of diet exclusively. However, bats in other portions of the world are adapted to a variety of diets, such as fruit, insects, blood, or as in the case mentioned, flesh of warm-blooded prey.

The vampire bat is a reality. Humans, fortunately, are not commonly preyed upon. Out of the dim shades of the tropical jungles come weird tales of these ghastly bats, whose food is blood. Some of these stories tell of the deaths of men from the nightly attacks of bats. I cannot vouch for the truth of these stories, nor can I offer evidence against them. I do know, on reliable authority, that horses and other domestic animals are the victims of the huge, blood-sucking bats.

From Indian jungles comes tales of fruit bats, three feet in wingspread, that eat ripe fruits of many kinds. I have seen mounted specimens of the fruit bats that make our small Nycticeus and Myotis look like veritable

Bush, of 528 Glen Iris drive, was in a critical condition Monday night at Grady hospital as the result of injuries received earlier in the day when his automobile was struck by the car of Frank Shannon, 25, of 1005 North avenue, who was arrested by police on a charge of operating a car while under the influence of liquor.

The accident occurred at Glen Iris morning. Police patrolling in the section extricated Bush from the wreckage of his car, which was overturned by the impact. Shannon was slightly cut and was treated at Grady hospital. Hospital attaches said Bush had a fractured skull and other injuries.

Major General E. E. Booth was transferred from command of the Philippine department to the ninth corps area at San Francisco presidio.

Major General Frank Parker, in command at the sixth corps area, Chicago, was ordered to sail from San Francisco about November 23 to assume command of the Philippines department.

Major General Preston Brown, in charge of the Panama Canal department, will take charge of the sixth corps area.

Major General Edwin Winnans, in command of the eighth corps area at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, was assigned to the office of the chief of staff, Washington.

GEN. ESTES WILL LEAVE McPHERSON THIS WEEK

Brigadier General George H. Estes, for four years commanding officer of the eighth brigade of the army and Fort McPherson, will leave the latter part of the week, probably Friday, for his new command at the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga. He will be replaced by the school.

The war department has not as yet made public the identity of General Estes' successor at Fort McPherson but an announcement is expected at any time.

Senator George, expressed the view that it would serve no useful purpose so long as conditions imposed were unacceptable to Governor Talmadge and state authorities.

Senator Vinson said he thought the state should go ahead with its highway construction program and use the money on any basis that was available.

For Restrictions if Necessary. "If we can't get it without restrictions I am in favor of getting it any way we can," he declared.

Senator Richard B. Russell Jr. was reported to have taken a similar view, expressing a preference for expending the $10,000,000 under federal supervision to having it held up further.

Congressman Vinson, following the afternoon conference with Wallace and McDonald, issued the following statement:

"Senators George, Russell, Congressman Owens, Harter, Dean, Cawley, Brown, Parker and myself had conference today with Secretary Wallace and Mr. McDonald with reference to the immediate release of the road fund to the state of Georgia to the present highway department. The delegation reiterated its insistence that the money be turned over without any restrictions such as suggested last week to Senator George by the department.

"My personal opinion is that the department will not act favorably upon our request. A memorandum is being prepared by the secretary for the president stating specifically the manner in which the department is willing to turn the money over to the present highway department.

"Personally, I am no longer concerned about procedure by which Georgia may obtain the money. I am thoroughly convinced we cannot obtain the money the way the governor desires. Then, as one member of the delegation, I am in favor of accepting it as Franklin D. Roosevelt suggested. I am intensely interested that the road work be commenced as early as possible to help relieve unemployment in the state, and I for one do not propose to haggle over terms while thousands of people are out of employment in the state."

Delegation Favors Talmadge. On the whole, however, the delegation took a pronounced stand in support of the position of Governor Talmadge, insisting that Georgia was entitled to its share of the funds without any more supervisory interference than is called for in the policy of the federal government with respect to the other 47 states.

In addition to those already named, other Georgia members participating in the conference here today included Representative Emmett Owen, of Griffin; Representative Bryant T. Castellow, of Cuthbert; Representative Braswell Dean, of Alma, and Representative-elect Paul Brown, of Elberton.

The four remaining members were unable to attend on account of previous engagements in the state.

Two meetings were held with Secretary Wallace on the Georgia highway controversy during the day. The delegation went to the department of agriculture first this morning accompanied by several other southern congressmen to discuss measures for improving the price of cotton and general commodities. After winding up the cotton conference the state highway fund situation was taken up but Mr. Wallace expressed a desire that Mr. McDonald on hand so the deliberations were adjourned until after lunch when the conference was resumed with the public roads bureau chief present.

McDonald Cites Dismissals. While the meeting was of an executive character, it was learned that Mr. McDonald, in explaining his reasons for insisting on restrictive measures as a condition to release of the Georgia funds, expressed dissatisfaction with Governor Talmadge's action in summarily dismissing certain former engineers of the state highway board.

He readily consented to the suggestion that he prepare a memorandum for the president on the conditions contemplated and told Secretary Wallace that he had had in mind doing this anyway. At the time the proposal was first made for naming an engineer to supervise the Georgia expenditures considerable confusion existed between Senator George and Mr. McDonald as to the actual authority and functions of the proposed engineer.

Just when the memorandum will be completed was not indicated, but Mr. McDonald is expected to have it ready within a few days. Copies of it will undoubtedly be sent to Governor Talmadge and members of the Georgia delegation and President Roosevelt.

Roosevelt Asks Leniency. Mr. Roosevelt, it developed today, has addressed a communication to Mr. McDonald, expressing a keen interest in the Georgia highway situation, and asking him to be as lenient as possible releasing the funds.

The letter, which is being forwarded to the bureau of public roads shortly before the president's departure for Hyde Park, N. Y., Saturday and following his conference the day previous with Senator George.

Meantime Senator George and other members of the state delegation were not expected to make a further move toward release of the funds until the MacDonald memorandum is written. They will want to submit it to Governor Talmadge for his consideration before indicating any disposition to yield from the present position of demanding outright recognition of the state's full demands.

Under no circumstances is the president likely to order a supervisory plan for administering the Georgia funds without the consent and approval of Governor Talmadge. He so informed Senator George at the time they went over the situation together last week, both agreeing that should be left for the governor to have the final say as to any procedure adopted.

of the department of justice, and other figures regarded by him as authentic.

The table placed Jacksonville, Fla., at the top of the list for 1932 with 61 murders, a ratio of 43.88 for each 100,000 population. In 1931 the city ranked second with 47 murders and a ratio of 35.87. In 1931, Birmingham, Ala., led.

The first 15 cities in Rex's 1932 table are as follows:

Fall River, Mass.; Grand Rapids, Mich.; Lowell, Mass.; New Bedford, Mass.; Reading, Pa.; South Bend, Ind., and Utica, N. Y.

JACKSONVILLE POLICE CHIEF DISCOUNTS SURVEY FIGURES

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Chief of Police Abel J. Roberts, informed tonight that Jacksonville had led the nation in rate of murders per capita in 1932, discounted the figures compiled by Frederick Rex, Chicago city librarian.

The figures released by Rex showed 61 murders. Roberts said there actually were 54 homicides in Jacksonville in 1932, not counting those who were wounded in neighboring localities and who died in hospitals here.

Of the 54 homicides—most of them were not classed as murders—Roberts said negroes figured in 49 of them. Fourteen negroes killed 47 other negroes, he said, and two negroes killed two white men. Only five white persons were killed by white persons during the year, Roberts said, and were reported monthly to the bureau of investigation, department of justice.

"I don't know where Mr. Rex obtained his total of 61 for Jacksonville," the chief said.

Noting that southern cities led for the first eight places on the list, Chief Roberts said: "Wherever you find a large negro population you will find a large homicide rate. The population ratio for negroes here is about 40 per cent."

Dr. Decker, Johnson, Rantin, Sutton, Rusk, and 26.

Against: Mitchell, Waits, Briggs, Rogers, Beck, Milam, Foster, Curtis, Lyle, Wilson, Total, 10.

Vote to override the mayor and eliminate ordinances forcing opening and closing of grocers at specified hours follows:

For: Scott, Tiller, Bowden, Waits, Aldice, Reynolds, Seawright, Millican, Murphy, Gilliam, Locher, Cobb, Almand, Berman, White, Knight, Childs, Owen, Hastings, Marler, Foster, Curtis, Decker, Johnson, Rantin, Sutton, Rusk, Wilson, Total, 28.

Against: Mitchell, Leak, Cuba, Bridges, Rogers, Beck, Milam, Lyle, Total, 8.

Other Action Taken. The following other action was taken on other important matters facing council:

1. Referred to a resolution of the finance committee setting up $5,000 for preparation of additional engineering data necessary to enable the municipality to pursue its claim to $100,000 for improvement of the sewer system of metropolitan Atlanta. The funds are sought from the federal government.

2. Referred to the finance committee a resolution by Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, of the 12th ward, to create a special committee composed of three council members and two citizens to investigate costs of power production by public ownership as against privately operated companies and the effect of the same on the rate of interest.

3. Unanimously accepted a report of a special committee headed by Councilman Aubrey Milam regarding the solicitation of funds for the police year-book. The committee scored the contract with Krein & Daly, advertising concern, recommended abolition of the contract and the purchase of another for four years, and council ordered the entire transcript transmitted to the Fulton county grand jury.

4. Tabled a proposal to force the purchasing committee to ask for bids and award contracts for purchase of police uniforms. The men pay for the uniforms, the committee merely approving styles and colors. It was contended that they are private purchases and should remain private.

5. Withheld approval of appointment by Key of Ivan Allen, prominent Atlantan, to membership on the city planning commission. A. J. Houston Johnston, resigned, because Allen was said to reside outside the limits of the city.

6. Sent to the finance committee a resolution by Councilman Rusk and Sutton asking that body to investigate the state of municipal finances in an effort to ascertain whether an other 10 per cent of the salary slashes imposed on employees will be restored effective as of October 1.

7. Approved appointment of a special committee of leading Atlantan attorneys to prepare a bill to revise the city code, recommend repeal of obsolete laws and bring ordinances up to date.

8. Ruled, in passing a measure of the city council, that the city council may employ any person to discuss politics, issues and candidates freely and without jeopardizing their jobs.

9. Directed Grady trustees to continue to give service to the Steiner ward as they have previously, by approving such an order moved by Councilman Joseph E. Berman.

10. Passed an ordinance requiring vendors of 3.2 beer and malt drinks to obtain a permit from the police department to sell in the city. This was to prevent sales adjacent to churches or in other places where it was regarded it would be undesirable.

11. Sent to the schools committee an ordinance by Berman to prevent charging for motion pictures shown in various city schools.

12. Sent to the schools committee another Berman measure designed to repeal the controversial milk bottle ordinance.

13. Approved expenditure of $1,500 for purchase of tract for a new fire house near the division line of the second and third wards as sponsored by Councilman G. Dan Bridges.

14. Set up $644 for pay roll for the water department for the month of August. The money was for vacation pay for employees of pumping stations.

15. Asked City Attorney James L. Mayson to investigate a difference in the water department's contract between the city and the Southern Bell Telephone Company. If the city's construction is valid, $8,840 is due from gross receipts in 1932; if, however, the company's construction is correct, the city already has been paid all that is due.

16. Referred to the ordinance committee a resolution by Councilman G. H. Hastings to bar full-time staff members of Grady or Steiner from maintaining private offices for private practice.

17. Voted to set up $1,000 for construction of culverts on Matthews and Atlanta places.

Flight Over Steiner Veto. When Key's veto message to the Steiner ward was presented at the council hearing, it was the signal for a clash.

J. Henson Tatum, city clerk, sounded the retiring bell and began reading. Gilliam interrupted to say it was lengthy, that it had been publicized widely and that every member of council knew what it said.

Others insisted on reading it. The fight over that veto consumed more than an hour and a half.

"I want to move passage of this ordinance notwithstanding the mayor's veto," Murphy said.

Councilman H. Parks Rusk, of the 13th ward, obtained the floor to disclaim that the fight over the measure was an admission of an anti-administration battle.

"It is as free of any factional fight as any measure I have seen come to this floor in many months," he asserted. "This is not a fight between me and a drug store. It is a fight between me and a man who has been here for 12 years and who has been here for 12 years."

Intimidation Charged. "There have been efforts to intimidate council members regarding this," Dr. C. W. Childs, fifth ward councilman, said. "I was told that unless I voted to sustain the mayor I would be boycotted by the doctors. (Childs runs a drug store.) I am glad to say, from the Fulton County Medical Society, which is interested in defeating this measure. Even if it had, it would have had no effect on me. When we come up here and vote our convictions about any matter we should vote. The man who sent me this word didn't have the guts to tell me face to face."

"At the last session of this body, Councilman Frank Beck (chairman of the hospitals and charities committee) and I were out of the room. Grady board of trustees said the old hospitals and charities committee had turned down the state offer of $100,000 for the Steiner ward. Alderman G. Everett Milam said it was to correct him. The present board did that, but it had done good work at Grady. It has made many improvements. At the same time council has increased appropriations and Fulton county has given $100,000 to it."

"I do not know whether this argument over Steiner is an administration fight or not," Councilman Milam said. "I think the people should be about it. Grady has had a very standard of efficiency in the past two years and made more progress during that time than it did in the previous 15 years. I think the present board has done good work there. Services of the board would cost the municipality many thousands of dollars a year and the members were paid what they are worth."

Beck defended the present Grady board, Councilman J. Raymond Curtis frowned on the "decadent line of management," and Councilman George B. Lyle read a petition on which he said were the signatures of 300 members of the Fulton County Medical Society asking that a special board not be created to manage Steiner.

"The mayor has said a lot of things in the past," Alderman J. Bartle Murphy, of the eleventh ward, said. "Why did he not tell us why the Grady board fired Dr. Fike (Dr. Rupert H. Fike Jr., Steiner medical supervisor) without a hearing, which usually is accorded any employee?"

White Plains "Racket." Councilman John A. White charged that he had been told that solicitors for advertising in the police year-book had been instructed not to book cases in Atlanta holders of courtesy cards, issued in exchange for advertising in the annual or for donation given to the fund.

White said that one attempted to obtain a donation from Al Capone, Chicago gangster, who is in the federal prison, White shouted. "I think that is a very reprehensible thing. I, however, am satisfied with the report of the committee."

Councilman Curtis insisted that the city should not be the seat of the police committee and that the information concerning the alleged information promised traffic law violators.

Fight on Store Paper. Councilmen White and Berman carried the battle to repeal the grocers' ordinance and were opposed by Councilman Milam and Alderman Faris A. Mitchell.

Dr. W. E. Barber, president of the Fulton County Medical Society, Monday afternoon called on the city council regarding the separate Steiner board, which his organization had fought and which precipitated a threat that society members would discontinue their service at Grady, estimated at $1,500,000 a year, if changes in the administration of the Steiner unit were made.

Barber declined to make any statement regarding the matter, and Grady trustees could not be reached for comment.

Physicians, who declined to be quoted, said that creation of the new board for Steiner would probably result in the near future in court action, in an effort to be made to have the Steiner unit construed. The will, it was pointed out, provides for the request to be made for a ward in connection with the Steiner unit, hospital, and creation of the new board, physicians charge. "In fact creates another and separate hospital."

Millican announced he would call a meeting of the new board within the next few days.

"As long as I am a member of the board newspapermen will be permitted to attend sessions," he said.

The Grady board holds executive sessions.

HERBERT HOOVER WILL BE CALLED IN BANK INQUIRY

$8,000,000 in cash more than it actually had."

Clintaxes Testimony. Reading of the examiners' reports brought a dramatic climax to the committee's testimony. The examiners, who had been investigating for many weeks had sought to obtain—with no success—federal reports concerning the closed national bank here. The senator, while refusing to give the names of the examiners, calmly read the reports.

Reading from the reports a statement concerning $4,000,000 in loans to employees of the bank, of which it was stated $2,000,000 already is a loss and more will be lost. The senator quoted the examiner's November, 1932, report as follows:

"Most of these loans were for the purchase of stock in the Bank of Commerce (the holding company). The fall in this stock has broken the morale of the employees and created defalcation dangers. The directors should relieve the employees of this stock. The stock has fallen from more than $300 a share to $9 and is the root of much of the trouble. The bank should relieve the employees of this stock. It was a dangerous act to allow such a condition to exist."

In a further reading of federal reports, the senator quoted bank examiners as referring to "deplorable conditions of the bank's assets and management." The statement declared that with two or three exceptions, the executives are weak and unqualified; fair weather bankers who do not know how to cope with present conditions. About 20 key men should be fired and replaced with 12 new men.

The reports to the directors of the bank, the senator said, apparently were taken up only by the executive committee of the board, as he reported several directors had told him they never saw the reports.

More Withdrawals. "Should the directors not have been told," asked his questioner, Prosecutor Harry S. Toy.

"If all 74 directors had known of this, there probably would have been some smart money withdrawals," declared the senator.

Consens, reiterating his denunciation made in previous testimony of an "org of consolidations and pyramiding of assets," continued criticism of Wilson W. Mills, former chairman of the board of the First National Bank, who he said "knew the report of the bank's earnings given to the depositors was false, in that actuals were added to earnings whether they did not exist or not. He read before the jury the account of transactions by the bank involving a score of prominent Detroiters, although he did not mention their names. Loans were mentioned, the amounts, and the prospective amount of loss as well.

The senator also read a telegram from George F. Davidson, chairman of the board of the Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, New York, in which Davidson denied charges the senator made before the jury that he had offered Mr. the presidency of a large Detroit bank to be organized by New York interests.

The senator did not complete his testimony today, and will return to the matter tomorrow. After he will come the Rev. F. Charles E. Coughlin, who attracted national attention last year by his fiery speeches on the Detroit banking situation.

CHIEF STURDIVANT HAS BUMPS READ BY 'PSYCOGRAPH'

There is a machine on exhibition in the lobby of Loew's Grand theater this week which is called a "Psychograph." Which, interpreted, means the machine-age equivalent for the old-time penologist who used to read the bumps and hollows in your head and tell you whether you should devote your life to art or whether you would be more successful as plumber.

The Psychograph does exactly the same thing, but does it with mechanical precision and unswerving neutrality. It looks something like one of those contraptions that they use on the hair to give women permanent waves guaranteed to be permanent for at least six months.

No one need fear that their hidden secrets will be revealed through this machine, because the official report on the relief map of your skull goes into no one's hands except your own. You get the report, work out the differentials on a scale explained by the ladylike attendant and you can then decide whether to finish that course in electrical engineering or whether to tackle your mandolin lessons seriously.

Yesterday afternoon Chief T. O. Sturdivant, head of the Atlanta police department, had his own skull examined by the machine, but did not issue any statement afterwards. So the city won't know whether it has a good police chief or one who would merely make a good hero for the movies.

MOBS STILL DEAL CUBAN VEGEANCE

Two Slain by Crowds Despite Stricter Government Rules.

HAVANA, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Cuban mobs continued to take the law into their own hands and deal out their own kind of punishment today to those held guilty of crimes under former President Gerardo Machado despite more severe government measures to preserve order.

Two persons were slain and an effort made to lynch a third in the Santiago district of Oriente province, Julio Heredia, former henchman of Major Arsenio Ortiz, was shot and killed by a mob in Santiago and his body dragged through the streets. Members of the A B C revolutionary society had taken Heredia from the courthouse when he was seized by the mob.

Major Ortiz, who is accused of numerous political killings, was sent to Germany last June by the government. Machado, who asserted this action was taken so that he might escape court-martial.

A policeman, Luis de Spayne, was shot and killed at Palma Soriano. Later in the day an attempt was made to lynch Municipal Policeman Hechevarria in Santiago after he had been arrested. An A B C guard was thrown about him, however, and a speaker induced the crowd to desist. Hechevarria was taken to prison.

The problem of keeping order fell largely to Secretary of War Demetrio Castillo, and he sought to meet it by issuing strict orders to troops to prevent sacking of farms and homes belonging to men of the Machado regime.

At the same time, the war department lined up with other administrative departments that have asserted firmly that none guilty under Machado shall escape. It announced military passes would be needed for persons leaving Cuba and called on all in hiding to give themselves up lest they fall victims to popular wrath. Investigations into the sources of wealth of Machado and his followers and their conduct in office were expected to begin this week. It was possible that efforts would be made to extradite them from their places of exile.

The strike of Havana harbor workers which had tied up commerce in the capital was settled late today as the provisional government of President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes continued working on problems inherited from the deposed Machado regime. The 3,000 stevedores, longshoremen and other workers agreed to return at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning after the shippers recognized their union and accepted other demands.

Joaquin Martinez Sanz, secretary of the treasury, who announced the settlement of the strike, said that the Havana Harbor Association, composed of representatives of the shipping interests, had accepted the labor demands with minor modifications. The demands included recognition of their union, or acceptance of the closed shop principle for Havana, and installation of the so-called rotating list under which employment will be given the workmen by turn.

Gandhi, under a year's sentence in the Yeravda jail here because of his civil disobedience campaign against the mahatma, has been removed to a local hospital for treatment. The 64-year-old leader refused advice to abandon his fast unless also given his unconditional release to carry on his campaign for India's "untouchables."

WESTBERRY ON TRIAL FOR SECOND TIME

VALDOSTA, Ga., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Austin Westberry went on trial today for the second time on an indictment charging him with the murder of W. H. Browning and his wife, who were shot at their filling station home near here three years ago tonight.

Judge W. E. Thomas, of the southern circuit, quickly overruled a demurrer filed by the defense when the trial got under way this afternoon and the entire afternoon was taken up with questioning of prospective jurors. When court adjourned at 4 p. m., the day four men were seated in the jury box. Nearly 300 persons have been summoned as prospective jurors.

The state announced that Westberry, first tried and convicted for killing Browning, would be tried this time on an indictment charging him with killing the aged man and his wife.

Westberry's conviction and sentence to life imprisonment were set aside by the Georgia supreme court, which granted him a new trial.

A charge from a shotgun fired through the window of his home killed Browning. Mrs. Browning, in a death-bed statement, said that two men then entered the doorway of the filling station home and fired two loads from a shotgun into her body. She died in a local hospital the next day. The state contends that robbery was the motive.

The defense at the first trial of Westberry sought to establish an alibi, asserting he was in Florida at the time of the killing. He was arrested in Manatee, Fla., September 1, 1930.

Westberry was tried as the first of five persons indicted in the killings. Two other men have been tried in the case. Homer Padgett is serving a life sentence at the prison farm, and Allan Westberry, uncle of Austin Westberry, is awaiting a new trial. He is at liberty under bond.

ATLANTA, GA., AUGUST 22, 1933.

THE BETTER WAY.

The board of county commissioners will, in order to lighten the burden on the property owners of Fulton, either reduce the county tax rate or lower the basis of assessment, which will be equivalent to a cut in the rate.

Of the two proposals the reduced assessment plan is preferable, as to cut the rate and let the assessments stand as now would mean no relief from the disproportionate share of state taxation being borne by Fulton county.

Under the state system of ad valorem taxation, the state government collects its taxes on the basis of the assessment value placed by the various county governments. As a result the county that has a high tax rate and low assessments pays much less proportionately into the state treasury than those which have high assessments and low rates.

Most of the counties of the state, taking cognizance of this situation, have systematically reduced their assessments, keeping up their tax rates in order to secure the necessary revenue for county operations.

Fulton is one of the few counties that has not taken this step and as a result its share of the burden for state taxation has grown steadily more disproportionate.

To cut the local tax rate now and not reduce assessments would be to further increase the unfair ratio of state taxes being paid by Fulton, which now amounts to about a fourth of the state's revenue.

The real remedy for the muddled tax situation in Georgia would be for the state to place a maximum on county taxation, just as it has on its own tax rate, which, under the recent order of the governor, is now four mills.

If the county tax rate should be limited to ten mills or less, then the local officials would either have to keep their expenses within the revenue which would be thus raised, or face the voters with an increased assessment. This few of them would dare to do. The only alternative would be reduced expenses of county operation, which would be forced.

Some counties now have tax rates around 20 mills, but their assessments are low. Other counties have rates half as large, but their assessments are twice as high.

Thus the taxpayer in the high assessment counties is paying 100 per cent more in state taxes than the man who owns property that may lie next to his but is across the line in another county.

Fulton county now has one of the lowest tax rates in the state, but unless there is a material reduction in assessments, its taxpayers will continue to bear an unfair part of the burden of state taxation.

When the county commissioners take the urgently needed step to relieve the taxpayers of some of the tax burden they are now bearing, it can best be done by reducing assessments, rather than by reducing the tax rate—that is, if only one or the other can be done.

DIPLOMATS AGAIN JOLTED.

European diplomacy, grown intricate and involved through centuries of beating-around-the-bush tactics, has scarcely had time to catch its breath from the shock of President Roosevelt's frank messages to the London conference, before it receives another jolt in the form of a conference between Premier Mussolini and Chancellor Dollfus—the scene of which was in a rowboat in the Adriatic.

Italy is vitally concerned in the attempts being made by Hitler to bring about a Nazi government in Austria, with German domination of Austria being, it is charged, the ultimate aim. This would put Germany on Italy's borders, a situation not at all to Mussolini's liking.

It is held that Hitler's activities in this respect are counter to international agreements now existing. If the matter were referred to the usual diplomatic channels for settlement, the probability is that it would hang fire so long that the crisis would either have come to a head or passed over.

So Mussolini and Dollfus, the strong man of Austria, slipped down to the seacoast, secured a boat and rowed out, alone, to talk things over.

The procedure has no doubt shocked the silk hat diplomats, but it furnishes an example of how nations can "get down to business" in the discussion of mutually troubling affairs. And there seems to be no good reason, the silk hats to the contrary notwithstanding, why business methods should not be injected into the business of government.

"AUDITING" GRAND JURIES.

The best way to check gangdom's activities, in the opinion of former United States District Attorney Tuttle, of New York, is through the selection of grand juries from the more intelligent class of citizens and their full instruction not only of their powers but of their mandatory duties.

Such grand juries, this federal prosecuting attorney who spent many years in warring on criminals, believes would prove to be a most effective weapon for warring upon crime committed by racketeers or public officials in collusion with criminals.

In an article in The Panel, organ of the Association of Grand Jurors of New York County, Mr. Tuttle especially stresses the importance of advising every grand juror of his right to call upon his associates to investigate any crime which he has reason to believe has been committed, and that thereupon the grand jury MUST investigate.

Mr. Tuttle directs attention to the fact that—

Any citizen having prima facie evidence of a crime may take it to a grand juror and ask that the juror use it as a basis for demanding an investigation, is a fact unknown even to many lawyers and apparently to some judges. Widely publicized charges by official investigators and private persons that crimes have been committed quite often do not produce results because the prosecutors do not bring charges officially before the grand jury and the jurors are unaware that they could act on their own motion and demand that the prosecutor aid them in investigating charges.

Commenting that the system of "auditing" grand juries in Georgia resulted in presentments in Fulton county in which charges of "nepotism, favoritism, extravagant salaries to county officials, and other matters, caused a commotion which has not yet subsided," Mr. Tuttle urges that the grand juries of New York be given the same powers. He goes further and recommends that special "auditing" grand juries be created and that their duties be limited to the investigation of the local government and to such involved subjects as racketeering.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

As Others See Us.

You hear all kinds of opinions in Europe about the great American experiment inaugurated by President Roosevelt. Some hold that it is fascism pure and simple, a personal dictatorship on behalf of the state, which is growing all-powerful. Others declare with as much assurance that it is socialism. Both opinions have an element of truth and an element of error. It is not fascism yet by any means. The mild dictatorship of Mr. Roosevelt cannot be compared with the roughshod riding over the interests of large groups to the detriment of the proletariat.

The proletariat may not be where it ought to be, but there is no hostility to the working man in America as if he were some evil creature to be crushed and whipped and held down. On the other hand, it isn't socialism either. Control over the means of production is still in the same hands as before, that is to say in the hands of the capitalists. But capitalism is no longer unchecked. It is controlled, and will be increasingly so. It is therefore not state capitalism.

What the future may bring is not known. But it may very well result in the corporate state idea of Mussolini, one for all and all for one. But then again, according to Lord Passfield, all collectivization paves the way for socialism. At any rate we are undergoing a momentous, historic change and economic conditions are the determining factor in our national development.

Parliament Is Impressed.

James Maxton, leader of the independent labor party, a man whom we would call a dangerous radical, was speaking in parliament in London the other day. When word reached the lobbies that Mr. Maxton had the floor, the house filled up at once. For an hour he spoke with an eloquence, with a somber fire that held the august assembly spellbound. He denounced the capitalist system and did not mince matters. It was a tremendous performance. When he finished everybody rose and cheered him, even the die-hard Tories. And the next day the papers were full of praise for Mr. Maxton.

A perfect indictment, said the Times of his speech. The fire of a prophet, said the Manchester Guardian. A tremendous plea for social justice, still another paper remarked. Here was a man objectively weighing the evidence and that is never wrong.

It is by such courageous probing of the ill of the system that mankind is benefited, even as the surgeon who goes to the root of the matter, painful though it may be, is a better physician than the man who sticks a plaster over an open sore. Eyes open and face the reality, that is the first watchword for statesmen in our time.

There is a strange familiarity about the old house hunked in this "Tin Doctor" friend attempts to palm off on me: "We pamper our digestive tract with soft, palatable, partially pre-digested foods, which brings on atrophy of certain glands of internal secretion. . . . I wish the gentleman would not hang his hat on his nose when he gives his lecture. . . . This results in change in composition of secretions of these glands. For instance the saliva no longer holds its calcium in suspension. . . . This is news indeed. Heretofore we have assumed the saliva is the secretion of parotid, submaxillary and sublingual glands (three pairs of glands), but according to this unique conception of "Tin Doctor" the saliva is produced by a gland or glands of internal secretion. . . . and consequently some calcium is deposited on the non-self-cleansing surfaces of the teeth. . . . When my dentist was cleaning my teeth he pointed out the projection of the outer surface of the upper molars for the calcareous deposit which I called tartar but he called something else, something harder to handle from the dentist's office. . . . At that point the saliva from the parotid gland (the gland that swells in mumps) is ejected from the duct into the mouth cavity. . . . But what of it? Every tooth is more or less subject to the formation of such deposits on the teeth, no matter whether he brushes his teeth religiously or never, and everybody must get to the dentist at intervals or wishes to keep his teeth clean and free from such deposit. . . . "Tin Doctor" winds up with this distributive: "If you came to my office for treatment of any character with accumulations of potatoes, bread, meat and other accretions between and around the necks of your teeth, like many others who have read your articles about the care of the teeth, I am afraid I should not be able to help you."

No fear, my dear dentist. Fortunately I don't care for potatoes unless they're quite crisply fried, and might be quite keen to know how to fry 'em the way I want 'em. Besides a dentist who regards the saliva as an "internal secretion" might regard my perfectly innocent wisdom tooth as a cervical rib and attempt to remove it.

Haven't you confused your nicknames, too, Doctor? The term "tin doctor" signifies a nurse who gets a job working for the local school board or some industrial or commercial firm, then proceeds to double as doctor for any of the peasants who will stand for that kind of near-medical service. In short the nurse quacks it for $30 a week, and so saves her philanthropic employers the cost of a physician's services in many a place where such services are really required.

Man Ends Own Life After Killing Woman

By Paul Mallon.

FINALE WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Professor Moley will wind up his crime-chasing job around September 15 and will then probably undertake some personal political work for Mr. Roosevelt.

It will concern long-time planning for the congressional elections next year—and 1936. Arrangements for that finale to the Moley case have just about been worked out on the inside. They will probably be discussed when the president talks with Moley at Hyde Park tomorrow.

EXCUSES The nationalistic adviser to the president may or may not keep his office in the state department—probably not.

At any rate, Mr. Roosevelt will not assign him to international business, unless he is consulted privately on war debts. The official explanation will be offered that Moley's original assignment to the state department was only temporary. That is true, but rather thin in view of what has happened.

A better explanation seems to be the fact that Moley rather aroused the foreign statesmen with whom he dealt at the London conference. It might be difficult for him to deal with them hereafter.

ROOTS Insiders have a better whispered explanation. It is accredited by Moley's friends.

They say Mr. Roosevelt's recent peaceful solution satisfied all but two in the topmost circle. State Secretary Hull was largely pacified and so was Moley. They would have been willing to let the feeling die out in a few months and resume the old relationship. Mr. Roosevelt had worked them around to that point.

One who was not satisfied was the influential wife of a state department official. The second was an adviser closer to Mr. Roosevelt than Moley ever was.

SEQUEL The inner agitation against Moley was kept boiling while the matter was outside the limelight during the last few weeks. Stories and rumors were planted that he was going to be banished to Hawaii and possibly further. A cake of ice near the south pole was suggested.

This agitation may not die down until Moley's friends are also gone from the state department. The three who have been closest to him are Assistant Secretary Payer, Special Assistant Bullitt and Arthur Mullen Jr., son of the Nebraska politician.

The complete passing of the Moley crowd from the state department would be far more important than the personalities involved. Their transference to domestic questions would leave the diplomats in the international saddle.

No immediate change in policy can be expected but the long-time influence would be toward more friendliness and less nationalism in our international affairs. At least the balanced front at the state department would be removed.

Mr. Roosevelt personally has leaned toward strong nationalism. It is quite possible he may decide at the last minute to keep the balance he originally instituted. He may install some known non-diplomats in the department. Or he may upset existing arrangements and require Moley to keep his state department office.

He has been known to change his mind before and likes to do it.

CHECKING

The best inside spy system for code evaders has been worked out through the A. F. of L. President Green has instructed all his members to keep an eye on things out through the country. They are to report any suspected violation of the codes to him. He will report to General Johnson.

That means the government will have a closer watch on code chiselers than it could possibly institute for itself.

C. C. C. The one Roosevelt relief measure which is really doing the job cut out for it is the one the republicans laughed at most—the forestry camp campaign. It is hitting on all six, while the others are still in the process of formation.

There are about 314,000 formerly destitute boys in the camps. Three-fourths of their salaries go directly to their families who were on charity relief rolls. The boys themselves consume more than a thousand carloads of foodstuffs per month.

That means the creation of dual purchasing power—what the government buys for the boys and what the destitute families buy with the salaries of the boys.

NOTES Some good results from the NRA are beginning to be noted in various sections, but it is too early yet to tell the degree of benefit to the drive. More good is expected from the individual codes on steel, oil and lumber than from the blanket code method. The individual codes mean specific increases in salary and can be more closely checked.

Some people have been amazed at Mr. Roosevelt's power to force the industries into codes. They do not understand the power of public opinion held by a president or the specific punitive powers to do almost anything, granted at the last session of congress. The powers Mr. Roosevelt has exercised so far are only the beginning.

Only the Ass Found Pleasure In Kicking the Sick Lion

By Robert Quillen

The oldest story is still the best one. It has been told innumerable times, with innumerable variations, but the world never tires of it.

The best authors in each generation use it again and again; with few exceptions the best sellers repeat it; nursery tales, novels and cinemas copy it, and yet it never grows old.

It is the story of the faulty duckling and of Cinderella. The hero, through no fault of his own, is humiliated and suspected and browbeaten until the reader scarcely can endure the agony of it, and then at last he rises in his righteous wrath to destroy the villain and win the fortune or marry the princess.

The long-suffering martyr may be a kitchen maid or a prize fighter, a clergyman or a mongrel dog, but he must suffer unjustly and at last get even with his persecutor.

Given that pattern, the story never tires. How do you explain it? Does the reader rejoice in the triumph of justice and the downfall of tyranny?

It is something more than that. The story is his story. He also has endured humiliation and injustice. He also has held his tongue and temper. And he exults in the triumph of the hero because it gratifies his own longing to bash and crumple and crush some oppressor or win renown and parade before his astonished and contrite neighbors.

In short, he enjoys a vicarious revenge.

The desire to get even—to return hurt for hurt or lord it over somebody who rides a high horse—is as natural and as universal as pride itself.

But revenge is possible only in fiction. Perhaps we realize that, by some strange intuition, and therefore demand in stories a poetic justice impossible in life.

True revenge is impossible because it is not an act but a feeling. It is not only the payment of a debt, but a complete and unmixt satisfaction in the payment.

The victim of wrong thirsts for revenge while he is weak. But when he has made himself strong and at last is ready to crush his enemy, conditions are reversed and he finds no satisfaction in hurting a weakling.

Vengeance is the Lord's and man cannot have it. He who is up on you can't reach him, and when he is down you are ashamed to hit him.

Man Ends Own Life New York Grand Jury To Sift Racket Claims

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(UP)—The steady blast of an automobile horn attracted attention today to a small coupe parked in the northwest residence district, and investigation disclosed a dead woman slumped over the seat, the weight of her body sounding the horn, while a man sat beside her.

Police said Frank Stone, 32, had shot Arlene Mary Smith, 26, and then himself. He died a few minutes later.

The two once had been close friends, but had been estranged for several years, neighbors said.

GEORGIA SENATORS LAY COTTON PLAN BEFORE WALLACE

ton purchases. At present they are required to meet a processing tax of more than $20 a bale at the time cotton is bought. The purpose of the proposed modification is to permit the payment to be spread out over a period of 12 months.

Moderate expansion of the currency under authority already viewed in the president with a view of raising the price of prime commodities.

Finally, Mr. Wallace was asked to give consideration to demands for levying an equalizing tax on jute and other fibers that come in direct competition with cotton.

In addition to Senator George and Senator Russell other members of the group conferring with the cabinet officer included Representatives Robert Doughton, of North Carolina, chairman of the house ways and means committee; McSwain, of South Carolina; Collins, of Mississippi; Cooper, of Tennessee, and the following Georgia congressmen: Representatives Carl Vinson, of Milledgeville; Malcolm C. Tarver, of Dalton; Bryant T. Castellow, of Albany; Thomas H. Griffin, of Columbus; and Representative-elect Paul Brown, of Elberton.

Acting as spokesman for the group, Senator George said afterwards that he was well pleased with the sympathetic attitude of Mr. Wallace with respect to the several proposals. He was confident that immediate action would be taken by administration heads to improve the cotton price situation.

While currency expansion was one of the important subjects stressed during the conference, the senior Georgia senator said that no definite proposals were made as to the scope of the suggested inflation. Secretary Wallace himself is known to be giving serious thought to some action along this line and has conferred with the president on the same thing several times recently.

Particular emphasis was placed by the group on the necessity for readjusting the processing tax on cotton. Much of the present slackened demand for cotton is said to be due to the reluctance of the mills to go into the market and make purchases when such purchases have to be accompanied by a 4.2 per cent tax, payable at once.

Deferment of the tax for several months would act as a stimulant to sales, it was argued.

REVEALS SETTLEMENT OF COTTON CONTROVERSY

DALTON, Ga., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Congressman M. C. Tarver has been advised of the settlement of the controversy which has been pending for some time between members of the Georgia Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association and the department of agriculture regarding prices to be paid for 1930-31 crop, many growers having received unsatisfactory advancements upon their cotton. Approximately $800,000 additional would be paid to southern farmers all together of which approximately $100,000 will go to Georgia farmers.

C. A. Summerour, chairman of the growers' committee, writes Congressman Tarver: "This settlement is entirely satisfactory to us and the values were fixed in accordance with your original proposal to Mr. Morgenthau. We are in-

Repeat Within Next 78 Days Now Seen as Possibility

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The quick-stroke repeal vote by 22 states in unbroken succession, topped by Missouri's 3-to-1 ballot, today showed the possibility that the 13th amendment could be voted out of the constitution within the next 78 days.

With only 14 more state votes needed to ratify the 21st or repealing amendment, there is a strong probability that at least 17 states will ballot within that eleven-week period.

The national interest that attended Saturday's voting in Missouri swung southwestward today to Texas, which will ballot next Saturday. The following Tuesday the voters of Washington will step up to the deciding line.

In addition to the 15 states that have set definite election dates before November 8, the legislatures of two more commonwealths now are in session to name voting days.

In Virginia, Governor John G. Pollard has recommended to a special session of the assembly that October 3 be named.

Another special session in Kentucky is considering November 7 for a vote, with approval likely. In addition, Governor O. K. Allen, of Louisiana has announced he will call a special session for this purpose, but has named no date.

A skeleton compilation of the repeal results thus far, with the exception of Missouri, where the final count will not be available for several days, follows:

Delaware	June 24	17 to 0	45,815 to 13,505
Indiana	June 26	246 to 83	557,062 to 312,120
Massachusetts	June 26	45 to 0	436,356 to 97,702
California	June 27	22 to 0	967,394 to 305,071
New York	June 27	150 to 0	1,564,532 to 247,540
West Virginia	June 27	20 to 0	219,914 to 136,835
Illinois	July 10	50 to 0	1,227,668 to 341,773
Iowa	July 10	99 to 0	376,661 to 249,534
Connecticut	July 11	50 to 0	236,742 to 34,516
New Hampshire	July 11	10 to 0	76,044 to 30,406
Arkansas	Aug. 1	110 to 5	136,713 to 72,854
Oregon	Aug. 7	110 to 5	136,713 to 72,854
Alabama	Aug. 8	116 to 0	100,289 to 70,631
Tennessee	Aug. 11	57 to 0	126,940 to 120,130

In addition, Arizona has voted 37,408 to 11,028 for the ratifying convention for September 5, which will be attended by 14 unopposed wet delegates.

In addition, Nevada has voted 37,409 to 11,028 for repeal and has set a ratifying convention for September 5, which will be attended by 14 unopposed wet delegates.

Definite dates thus far set for other votes follow: August 26, Texas; August 29, Washington; September 11, Maine; September 12, Colorado, Maryland and Minnesota; September 19, Idaho and New Mexico; October 19, Florida; November 7, Utah, North and South Carolina, Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Conviction of Bailey In Kidnaping Predicted

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 21.—(UP)—Conviction of Harvey Bailey and all others held in the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, was predicted today by United States District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde after a study of evidence and conference with federal investigators.

Hyde spent several hours with Leslie E. Salter, assistant United States attorney-general, and R. H. Colvin, chief of the department of justice office here.

"I am confident the government has sufficient evidence to convict all those apprehended," said Hyde. "In fact, the case is so strong that it is necessary, all the defendants could be indicted without using Clarence F. Urschel, Walter Jarrett (kidnaped with Urschel, but released an hour later) and E. E. Kirkpatrick (who paid the ransom money)."

The statement strengthened belief that the federal grand jury investigation would be perfunctory, with the mass of evidence held until the desperadoes are tried.

Milk Men To Receive Basic Price of $2.35

All Georgia milk producers are to receive $2.35 per 100 pounds for milk of 4 per cent butter fat content, under the NRA milk agreement which is expected to be signed this week in Washington, Fred T. Bridges, assistant commissioner of agriculture of Georgia, said Monday.

Augusta and Savannah producers will receive more than the basic price because of the increased cost of feed in those areas, Bridges said.

The price of $2.35 per 100 pounds has been in effect in this state for several weeks by mutual consent of producers, distributors and wholesalers. The price gives the producer 21.25 cents per gallon for 4 per cent milk as compared with 13 cents under the old schedule. Wholesalers will receive 10 to 12 cents a quart, and retailers 12 cents a quart for store delivery and 13 cents for door delivery.

New McCullough Plea Is Wired to Talmadge

A plea for a 30-day respite for Andrew McCullough, condemned slayer of W. B. Baker, former president of the Atlantic Ice & Coal Company, was made Monday in a telegram to Governor Talmadge in Chicago by Frank A. Bowers, McCullough's attorney.

With the date for the execution set for Friday, McCullough will be taken to Milledgeville from Griffin today to await the hour of death in the electric chair. Bowers asked Talmadge to grant the stay of execution for 30 days in order that evidence indicating that McCullough is insane may be presented. McCullough's son is now serving a life sentence for his part in the murder of the Atlanta man last year in Fayette county.

VIRGINIA LEGISLATORS' PAY AND MILEAGE CUT

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Just as the Virginia general assembly received a resolution today offering the members an opportunity to vote themselves the same pay cut given state employees under the governor's orders, they were advised in a message from the comptroller's office that the cuts had already been made.

The comptroller's communication informed the solons that since the general assembly expenses at the extraordinary session come from the general fund, the attorney-general had ruled that the pro rata reductions in general fund appropriations applied. This means a 20 per cent cut in salaries and a 30 per cent cut in mileage.

The ruling was requested of the attorney-general by the comptroller when assembly officers presented mileage vouchers totaling $2,848 for repayment, based on a rate of 10 cents per mile. Senator Samuel L. Ferguson, of Appomattox, sent to the clerk's desk at almost exactly the same time a joint resolution which, if adopted, would have made the identical cuts in assembly pay and mileage.

Raymond Sisson, delegate from Lancaster and Richmond counties, offered in the house a resolution for the members to accept per diem pay for the actual number of days served, instead of the usual 30-day pay day regardless of the number of days in session.

Both resolutions were referred to the appropriations committee.

Both houses held brief sessions and adjourned until tomorrow noon after confirming certain appointments of the governor sent down last week and electing three state officials without opposition for unexpired terms.

C.C.C. Camps Sought In Southeast Georgia

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(Special)—Representative Braswell Deen, of Alma, Ga., today urged upon Robert Fechner, director of emergency conservation work, the establishment of additional C. C. C. camps to house reforestation workers during the winter months, in his congressional district, which comprises 20 counties.

Mr. Deen's district, which is the eighth, now has nine out of the 35 camps already established in the state, because of its warm, moderate climate during the winter months, he impressed upon Director Fechner the ability of the district for camps designed to take the place of centers now in the north.

The eighth district, which embraces a goodly part of the coastal area of the state, is located in a good timber section where most of the naval stores industry is found.

Living and Loving

BY VIRGINIA LEE.

"Dear Virginia Lee, I have heard everyone's advice around home and it is all somewhat alike. Now I want your advice."

"I am 15. I finish school this term. I go with a boy 26, whom I love very much. He wants me to marry him when I become 16 years old, which will be in September."

"My mamma knows I intend to marry him, and tries in every way to keep us away from each other, although we are together. Mamma does like me to go out nights, especially with this man."

"If I marry I know I would have lots more clothes. I would have a lot better time married than I do now. Of course, nearly everyone tells me to wait until I'm older, but it is my opinion that if we wait we may never be married, and I don't think I could love another, and I'm sure he feels the same way. Please give me your advice. SUE."

Of course, my first thought was to also tell you to wait. But I don't know. Maybe a little girl who is so very sure she knows what she wants should be allowed to have it. Possibly you are the kind who only learns by experience.

It is possible, I know, that you would be happy to be married so young and would never regret it. Most girls of your age, however, when they get in their teens, pining for a girlhood they say, pining themselves. "Why didn't mother forbid me to get married?"

And let the mothers of 16-year-olds who think they are in love, try to tell that, that is all. Do you know that you have to be 18 before you can be married without your mother's consent, in your state?

"Dear Virginia Lee: I think it would be a grand idea if a girl told a boy when she likes him, for a change. We are just as young as are, and we have to make all the advances."

"Sometimes I have liked girls a lot, and I wish they had told me if they liked me."

I sympathize with you, J. W. I wish the girls could be more frank with the boys. Boys who are shy need the encouragement that appreciation gives. But girls have been told for so many centuries that they must hide their feelings, that very few of them have the courage to be frank and natural about the matter. They are afraid boys will think they are being "hooked," if they tell them how they feel. And so they wait for the boys to make all the advances."

"Dear Virginia Lee: I am the victim of a girl who does not have a boy friend and never gets a date. She calls me on the telephone and always is arranging something so she can ask me to take her."

"Now I know that a nice little girl that I would like to go with, but she will not date me because of this other girl. So what is a fellow to do? If was a girl I would stay at home forever before I would see a fellow to take me some place, especially one that did not care for me and never asked me for a date."

Tell the girl for whom you don't care, gently but firmly, that you cannot take her out, the next time she rings you up. Make the excuse of a previous engagement every time she asks you to take her somewhere. In time she will realize that you do not desire to go with her and will stop asking. And then maybe the sweet little girl who would like to date will go with you."

In the meantime, feel sorry for the girl who does not have a boy friend, and be glad that you have been able to bring a little sunshine into her life."

Kicks at Silk Hats.

People in silk hats shouldn't be noisy at 5 o'clock in the morning, according to a Seattle lawyer. The people, in this case, are those who frequent the "Silk Hat," a dinner place near a residential district. The lawyer lives close by and objected to the noise of those departing during the early morning hours.

Only One Survives Poison Plot

This is Clyde Colley, three-year-old son of Alvin Colley, of Akron, Ohio, whose father, mother and two brothers were poisoned at a picnic dinner near Malvern, Ark., and who told police that Mark H. Shank, Akron lawyer, "put something in our grape juice." The boy was the only member of the family to survive the death plot, to which Shank allegedly confessed, because, he said, Colley "knew too much" about him. Shank is shown above at Malvern, shortly after he was captured by bloodhounds after running from the Colley automobile when it left the road as the poison took effect.

Opposition to Nazi System Is Crushed, Writer Finds

BY FREDERICK T. BIRCHALL.

(Copyright, 1933, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—(By Wire)—What progress has Germany made under her Nazi rulers in the last three months toward insuring the stability, peace and power that are their avowed aims?

Almost that period has elapsed since this correspondent spent any length of time in the reich, so he may be said to come to the inquiry with a fresh outlook. Also, German politics, in the language of the kitchen, are temporarily off the boil, so this is a good time for such a survey.

Outwardly there is now tranquility, but it is the quiescence of inertia. All opposition, all thought of opposition and almost all longing to oppose the Nazi system and methods have been crushed.

These last three months have been spent by the new regime in "mopping up," so to speak. It is a process in which it is 100 per cent efficient. Now everybody seems to have accepted what in Germany has become the inevitable.

Walking homeward the other evening with a man who had been a military personage of some importance in former days, this correspondent was expressing in English and not loudly certain opinions neither violent nor unduly critical.

"Quite right," said this man in almost an undertone, "but would you mind not saying those things in the street? I may not even listen to them. Come to my rooms."

Secret Opposition Unknown.

That is tranquility in this new Germany, but it is not even a faint shadow of the quietude of the past. It is a peace of the kind that is known to another voice expressing their own dissonance with the regime that is. As to how much secret opposition exists, who can say? Only one thing is certain: it is neither organized nor are there even the slightest indications of its future organization.

As to the ruling authorities, all their efforts are still in the field of the consolidation and strengthening of their power. Even lukewarm allies are being eliminated. Three months ago Dr. Alfred Hugenberg was in the wood world, and the party to which he belonged was expressing in English and not loudly certain opinions neither violent nor unduly critical.

"Quite right," said this man in almost an undertone, "but would you mind not saying those things in the street? I may not even listen to them. Come to my rooms."

There still remains Baron von Neurath, foreign minister, but it is only because he is so difficult to get rid of that he is still in the field of creating serious trouble for the regime that thus far has been no dyed-in-the-wool Nazi who could fill it. But his successors are already in training. As day now his grave may be dug alongside Dr. Hugenberg's.

There seem to be fewer brown uniforms visible. That is probably the effect of the recent Nazi edict restricting full membership in the party to adherents of two years' standing.

Three months ago almost every third man wore a uniform or armband to indicate his adherence to the cause. There are now fewer armbands, for it is taken for granted that every man is a Nazi; he has to be if he is to hold his job.

But it needs neither uniform nor armband—it is scarcely necessary for any one who has spent any length of time here under this regime even to waste a perfunctory glance at the tiny swastika button that often replaces the armband or uniform to detect a true Nazi.

Semi-Military Swagger.

There is a semi-military swagger common to all the young specimens and almost common to those of all ages. It recalls the old tourist who said, "You can always tell a German policeman by the intelligent expression on the face of his horse."

Many of the uniforms are now of a new type and new color. Their style is anything but Germanic—a sort of cocktail of French, English and Austrian uniforms combining the worst elements of all three. But it is a uniform, although as far removed from the efficiency of the reichswacht as dark is from light, to cater to the Germans' love for uniforms.

Moreover, the change is good for the textile industry, helping to mitigate unemployment. In other words, the uniforms of New York's policemen under Tammany were changed periodically.

Berlin is quieter and more subdued than it was a few months ago. The weather is at its best and Berlin, under any regime, is a beautiful city with a charm all its own. At this time the wide windows of the cafes on Unter den Linden and the avenues are thrown open so that their attendance brings over on the broad for a jump, in the hope of better conditions. They have not developed yet. The brief post-election spurt in a few trades resulting from artificial stimulation by the call for uniforms, flags, boots and belts, was soon over. There has been nothing since, and now there is a cry that the industrial centers are overpopulated, people must get back to the land. And the land cannot absorb them.

Exports have dropped and are steadily dropping further. Imports of raw materials have been curtailed for the factories cannot use them. To preserve the favorable trade balance all efforts are being directed toward canceling such imports as Germany can best dispense with, such as the rubber used in solving sport shoes.

In every year until the last exports in July showed a seasonal improvement. This year they remain at the June level and are $6,000,000 marks (the mark is currently worth about 25.50 cents) below those of the previous July. July's export surplus of 25,000,000 marks is the smallest in recent years with the exception of the previous month, when it was 23,000,000.

Only one Nazi economic measure has won success. The abolition of the tax on new motor vehicles has resulted in increasing the number manufactured from 22,116 in the first half of last year to 42,292 in the first half of this year and sales from 23,278 to 42,823.

Financially, the moratorium on private debts has resulted in increasing the reichsbank's gold coverage to 10.4 per cent. It was down to 7.75 per cent last June. But the budget is unbalanced and it is impossible to cover the huge deficit out of existing revenues. Both tax receipts and customs receipts, after falling to their lowest level in the previous month, when it was 23,000,000.

The increase in the reichsbank's gold reserves is exclusively due to the partial suspension of interest payments on the dollar bonds. Thus it has been achieved at the cost of American investors and not through any improvement in the foreign trade balance.

The government is not discussing finances, but in financial circles it is openly predicted that there must be recourse to forced loans to carry out even the modest extent of the grandiose employment projects already set forth to tide the populace over the winter months when the outdoor work that is now reducing the total of unemployed must cease.

Popular loans such as were floated in wartime are expected but since the small man does not have money to invest in them the reserves of the savings banks, co-operatives and larger industries must be recruited to absorb them.

It is employment that is the crux of the German problem, as it is in other nations. Officially unemployment has been brought down from 6,047,000 last February to 4,828,000 in mid-July, but the improvement is purely seasonal.

Moreover, the figures are erroneous. They take no account of the Jews, Marxists, pacifists and other supposed foes of the government who have been ousted and can make no claim to an unemployment dole.

They also take no account of the means whereby this is being brought about. Pressure upon employers to take on new workers and the compulsory introduction of shorter working hours are perhaps legitimate, but the dismissal of women workers in favor of men and the dismissal, in favor of fathers, of young workmen who were taken over by the volunteer labor corps and thus no longer appear in the unemployment list directly affect the totals without correspondingly helping the situation.

Much is being made of the elimination of unemployment in agricultural areas such as East Prussia, but this is the harvest season. An endeavor is being made to prolong the employment that it affords by forcing the farmers to store their grain early in their barns and retain the harvest hands to thresh it in the earlier winter months.

Drexels, En Route to Bluffton, S. C., Entertained by Savannah Society

Anthony J. Drexel III, and his young bride, the former Miss Helen Howard, of Atlanta, were being entertained by Savannah society Monday night as the young couple visited the city for a few days before continuing on their way to Bluffton, S. C., where they will stay at the home of Drexel's brother-in-law, Harry S. Cram.

The destination of Mr. and Mrs. Drexel for several hours, relatives averring that they were on their way to South Carolina, the state in which they were married Saturday night following an elopement to Wallhalla, an invitation from Mrs. Cram, Drexel's sister, started the trip Monday which ended in Savannah.

Mr. and Mrs. Cram, Mr. and Mrs. Drexel, and Miss Edith Cram Monday night were stopping at the DeSoto hotel in Savannah, the others having met the just-married couple there. An impromptu dinner party to which Savannah society was invited was given in their honor Monday night at the Oglethorpe club.

Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel Jr., mother of the 20-year-old groom, expressed herself as "terribly disappointed in the marriage" Monday from her summer home at Nassau, B. W. I. Saturday, she had denied that her son was engaged to the popular daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clinton C. Howard, of Atlanta. A few hours after the denial Drexel and the Atlanta girl were quietly married by a probate judge in the courthouse at Wallhalla, attended only by Miss Betty Collins, of Nassau, schoolgirl friend of the bride, and by Addison Smith, of Atlanta.

The young Drexels plan to go to Bluffton either today or Wednesday, they said.

ter months. But it is not oversuccessful, for the farmers need more money now and already the harvesters are beginning to flock back to the cities.

The prospect for the winter, therefore, is far from promising. But how far the economic crisis can affect the Nazis' hold upon Germany is extremely doubtful. Bread and work for all" was their promise, but if they cannot fulfill it, who is to put them out? And with whom could they be replaced?

QUEEN HELEN, ENGLISH GIRL PLAY FOR TITLE

Rain Gives Her Needed
Rest Before Her
Final Match.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 21. (P)—With the other girls showing neither fear of her game nor compassion for her injured back, rain today came to the aid of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody to give her another day of rest before she makes her final bid for her eighth American title in the women's national tennis championships at the West Side Tennis Club.

Queen Helen was scheduled to play her final match against either Dorothy Round, leading English challenger, or Helen Jacobs, defending titleholder, tomorrow, but the rain set back that semi-final contest another day and the finals until Wednesday.

Mrs. Moody gained her final brackets yesterday but only after a bitter three-set encounter with Louisa Bradley Nuthall, in which she dropped a set—something she had not done in this country since 1926—and became so rattled that she served twice in succession.

Helen's faux pas—comparable to an umpire allowing Babe Ruth to take four strikes in a World Series—caused almost as much comment today as did the 6-2 licking she took from Betty in the first set.

With 13 officials and a gallery of 7,000 watching, apparently only a startled ball boy, who declined to give Mrs. Moody the balls for her illegal service until a second peremptory demand, noticed the error. By the time it was called to the attention of Referee Rufus Davis it was too late to do anything about it.

As a matter of fact the incident played little or no part in the eventual victory of Mrs. Moody. She lost both games and did not until after the error that she got 6-3, 6-2 under control and ran it out 6-3, 6-2.

Betty's rousing stand against the once invincible champion, following as it did on the set Miss Round won from her at Wimbledon, has put reasonable thoughts in the minds of the other girls. For years they have been going meekly out to take their lumps but with the throne tottering all are anxious to get a whirl at Helen and the publicity the first defeat would bring.

In addition to the singles semi-final tomorrow the penultimate round in doubles also will be completed with Mrs. Moody and Elizabeth Ryan playing Miss Round and Mary Beley, the ranking English combination. Freda James and Miss Nuthall yesterday won the other finals with a three-set victory over Miss Jacobs and Sarah Paley, the national champions.

YAROSZ BEATS VINCE DUNDEE

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21. (P)—Sturdy young Teddy Yarosz, the pride of Monaca, Pa., tossed a challenge into the muddled middleweight ranks tonight by soundly whipping Vince Dundee, cagey veteran from Newark, in a 10-round fight for the Pennsylvania championship of the 160-pounders.

Dundee lost his first bout in three years to the black-haired Polish boy, who himself has been beaten but once in 10 starts.

Dundee's defeat under a withering two-fisted attack placed Yarosz in line for a crack at Lou Brouillard, the Worcester, Mass., strong boy, who is recognized as world champion in New York state.

Less than a pound separated the two fighters, Dundee weighing 158 and Yarosz 157 1/4.

The decision of the judges was unanimous.

Dixie Golfers Gathering For Meet

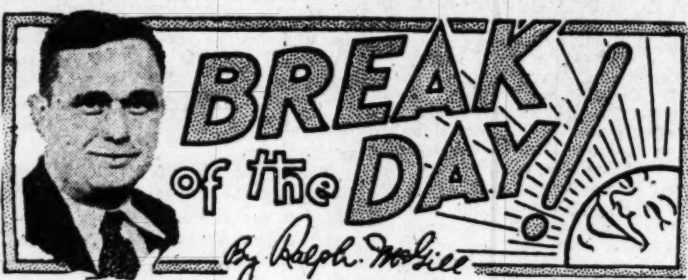

ALBANY, Ga., Aug. 21. (P)—Golfers from throughout Georgia and Florida were gathering here today for the opening Wednesday of the seventh annual Radium Springs invitation tournament.

Over the same sports course where the southern women's championship was held a short while ago, upwards of 50 players will tee off in the 18-hole qualifying round Wednesday and the 36 covered places in the title fight.

First-round play will be held Thursday. Two rounds at 18 holes will be played Friday with the finals at 36 holes on Saturday.

Billy Oliver, of Valdosta, is the defending champion.

SHAVE AT NIGHT.
Many big league ball players do their daily shaving at a shave parlor in the morning because the profuse perspiration during a game makes a freshly-shaved face sting.

BREAK of the DAY Chief Young-Man-Hit-in-the-Head- By-a-Mullet Steers for the Shore

Were Mr. William Alexander, Georgia Tech's head coach, a member of an Indian tribe his name would be Chief Young-Man-Hit-in-the-Head-by-a-Mullet.

It happened this way. Members of the fishing party at Sea Island Beach, where Coach Alexander spent his vacation, were talking over things piscatorial one evening. One of the party mentioned that if a strong flashlight were held over the side of the boat that mullet would leap at it and often leap right into the boat. A very lazy but efficient manner of fishing.

It was Coach Alexander, over in a corner, who replied with a scoffing laugh.

This aroused the dander, so to speak, of the gentleman telling the story. And so it was no time at all until all were aboard the lugger and out to sea. There Coach Alexander was put into a small boat along with a paddler and one other fisherman.

Coach Alexander had a strong flashlight, one of the large kind. They paddled along. On Coach Alexander's face was a look of resigned patience. He figured he was being made the goat of a joke. But they paddled on.

Suddenly there was the sound of a fish swishing out of the water.

AND A TWO-POUND MULLET LEAPED SQUARELY AGAINST THE SIDE OF COACH ALEX'S HEAD!

He shook his head groggily—put his light down in the boat and said, "Steer for the shore. A mullet does not have to hit me in the head more than once to convince me that he or she, as the case may be, will leap for a light."

And so they did. And from then on Mr. Alexander disputed no fish story, no matter how strongly may have been his inner belief. He feared they might suggest fishing for sword fish. And he had left his suit of armor at home.

TROTTER RACES FOR ATLANTA?

Walter Candler, who returned this week from Goshen, N. Y., where he saw the trotting classic, the Hambletonian, won by Mary Reynolds, the slim bay filly owned by W. N. Reynolds, the cigarette man who is exposing the magic acts, thinks it may be possible to bring the trotting races back to Atlanta this fall.

Several big stables plan to winter at Macon, Ga., and Candler believes it would be possible to have a number of the big owners ship here for the Southeastern Fair. The Hambletonian really should have been won by Fred Egan, who once trained for Candler, according to Candler.

"Egan was driving a colt named Brown Berry," said Candler. "The first heat saw him out in front. Just near the finish some plug made a play and forced him out wide and he finished second. In the second heat the same thing happened but he finished first. Then came the third heat. Egan had Brown Berry in front. She was leading and a sure winner but stumbled and fell to her knees and Mary Reynolds went on to win."

LAND O' GOSHEN.
Goshen, a sleepy little New York village, has staged the Hambletonian for the past four years. It is a village of about 3,000 people. And a crowd estimated at 30,000 saw the race.

"It looked like Derby Day at Churchill Downs," said Candler. "There is nothing like the Hambletonian. There is little betting. There are tents around where the churches have concessions, given free, where they sell lemonade, cakes and sandwiches. There is none of the race track crowd. It attracts the trotting race fans."

If the legislature will act favorably at its next session, Atlanta would be able to see both running and trotting races. The trotters, with a new form of booking so that each heat is a race, are rapidly regaining some of the lost popularity. The Rockingham running track near Salem recently saw a very successful revival of the trotters.

Why MISTER Keefe!
A wire from Mr. Bill Keefe, of New Orleans, concerning another matter ends with this pleasant little sentence: "Why did those lousy Crackers blow that first game Sunday?" (Had they won it the Pelicans would have gone ahead.) I'll have you know, Mr. Keefe, that you will eat those words in 1934.

Some Break of Day Letters
APPROPOS LI CHING-YUN.
In a recent column advice on how to attain the ripe old age of 200 or more years was given by a China man named Li Ching-yun. It was "Walk sprightly like a pigeon, sit like a tortoise, keep a quiet heart and sleep like a dog. It was thought that Li Ching-yun must not have had vendors of vegetables pounding on his door at an early hour each morning. Mrs. J. M. writes as follows from Columbus:

Mr. Ralph McGill, Atlanta, Ga. Dear (Unknown) Friend: Your article in yesterday's paper touched a responsive chord and I feel prompted to write you a thank-you note.

I have been a housekeeper for a number of years, yet somehow the evening work seems more severe each season. I am reasonably sure that Li Ching-yun's room was on the back side of the compound and was inaccessible from the outside. I have had corn on the cob, corn on the hand and corn on the toe, but the corn on the wagon of the hucksters has been heavier on the conscience these years of depression than any I have yet experienced, as it closes your eyes at night and opens them with dawning light.

This is just to thank you for your presenting hard, cold facts in a humorous way. And with regard to the story of the man who was afraid of conductors when he had lost his ticket. I never ride on the train without being terribly afraid of losing my ticket—a real phobia. Sincerely, Mrs. J. M.

FRANK SPEER AND M'MILLEN CLASH TONIGHT

Two Former Grid Stars
Feature Card at Ball Park

The jump from college football to a successful career in professional wrestling is even greater than the jump from freshman to varsity teams and the gap has been expertly bridged by Frank Speer, ex-Tech tackle, and Jim McMillen, former University of Illinois star, who meet tonight in the feature match of Henry Weber's weekly card at Ponce de Leon park.

Experience has made a new wrestler out of Speer, who has not appeared here in more than a year. He has become a great favorite in Washington and the east.

NATURAL TALENT.
Speer always had a natural talent for wrestling and as he acquired experience he naturally became more skilled. He is considered a great prospect by the experts.

Jim McMillen has been wrestling longer than Speer, but the former Jacket has been improving so rapidly that the match is considered an even proposition.

Bringing together as it does two great stars who are both destined for great things in wrestling, the feature match is most promising.

Dick Davis, who injured his back in a match with Pete Sauer here last week, is well again, having taken treatments from a chiropractor in Memphis, and meets Ivan Vacturoff, the Russian lion, in the semi-windup.

DISAPPOINTED.
Davis was disappointed because he could not get the match with Speer. However, Matchmaker Weber did not know Davis would be available until too late. And so Rough Richard will go out after Vacturoff to keep in good standing and remain eligible for Speer.

Tom McMillen begins at 8:15. Tickets are on sale at Miner and Carter and the Piedmont Hatters.

SMITHIE SQUAD PLEASES COACH

Football prospects for Tech High's 1933 season looked sure to please Coach Gabe Tolbert Monday afternoon when more than 65 youngsters, a record-breaking crowd for pre-school practices, turned out for the first workout.

"It was the best looking bunch of youngsters that I have ever greeted and what pleased me more than ever was that majority of the first called themselves 'Smithies,' Tolbert said Monday night.

The candidates are green, of course, but with the early start Tech High should be in fair shape to play the first game of the season September 15—a night game at Ponce de Leon park against Elowah, Tenn.

The big squad worked for more than two hours in "shorts" and track suits Monday afternoon and will continue a light program until after school opens September 5.

The equipment will be issued Thursday or Friday afternoon. Next week's workouts will be in regular uniforms except for the heavy padding.

Tech High suffered heavy from graduation last June and in order to meet the 11-game schedule which opens September 15, Coach Tolbert decided on an early start.

A majority of the 1933 Smithie team will be made up of inexperienced players and every candidate will be given ample opportunity to win one of the vacant places.

Marist Starts
Tomorrow
On Grid

Marist College's football candidates for the 1933 season will be called together at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning on the Ivy street campus in the first workout of the year.

Coach Louis Van Houten stated Monday that every candidate for the Marist team is urged to be present in order that all the preliminary details pertaining to the season's work may be completed as quickly as possible.

Marist is the third Atlanta prep team to begin work this week. Boys' High started Monday at a camp at Lake Burton and Tech High started at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon on the Henry Grady field.

The early start at Marist is due to a night game September 20 with G. M. A. at Ponce de Leon park.

Some seven or eight of the Marist players graduated last June and Coach Van Houten faces one of his hardest jobs to fill those vacancies.

The Marist schedule has three open dates and negotiations are being made to fill those as soon as possible. Several teams are being considered at present.

Mehre and Costa
Incorporate Here

H. J. Mehre, Georgia football coach, and Charles Costa, of Athens, Clarke county, Georgia, yesterday petitioned Fulton superior court for a charter as the Automatic Tackler Company. Stock will be 100 shares of no par value common stock. The firm will have the right to barter and sell automatic football tacklers. They are an invention by Mehre, M. E. Kilpatrick is attorney for the incorporators.

Local Boy Makes Good

Frank Speer, former Georgia Tech football tackle, shown above manhandling an opponent, returns tonight after more than a year's absence to meet Jim McMillen in the feature match of Henry Weber's card at Ponce de Leon park. Speer, a greatly improved wrestler, is a favorite in Washington and the east.

CRACKERS LOSE ANOTHER, 11 TO 5

There were 45 years of pitching experience riding the combined arms of Red Faber and Herb Penneck as they swung in that long game which the Yankees and the White Sox staged Monday afternoon.

The right arm of Red Faber began to swing in professional baseball in 1909 with Dubuque in the Three-I league. Herb Penneck began pitching for the Athletics in 1912, going to major league baseball with little more than schoolboy experience.

Since that time both have made baseball history. Red Faber is one of the two spitball pitchers left, now that John Pincus Quinn has been released from major league toil. Burleigh Grimes is the other.

Faber has toiled in the uniform of the White Sox since 1914. He went through all the old glories under the rule of Comiskey and has been with them through adversity in later years.

In more than 20 years with the White Sox he has won more than 250 ball games. And still he is able to go in there and pitch great baseball.

NO DUMB BUNNY.
Faber is no dumb bunny, so to speak. Yet he is probably the only man to "steal" an occupied base during a World Series game. It happened in the 1917 series when Chicago was playing the Giants. Faber had stopped the Giants cold.

He got on base about mid-game and reached second while Buck Weaver was on third. And then, for no reason at all, while thousands gasped in the stands, Faber "stole" third to retire the side.

The story goes that the exasperated Weaver said: "Where are you going now?" "Right out there and pitch," said Faber.

And pitch he did, beating the Giants three games in that series, one of the few pitchers to accomplish that three victories in a World Series.

URBAN FABER, HERB PENNOCK TIE UP IN DUEL

Two Veterans Sent In
After Teams Pass
Ninth.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21. (P)—After battling through 18 innings in an effort to decide the final game of the series today, the New York Yankees and the Chicago White Sox found themselves back where they started four hours and eleven minutes before as darkness ended hostilities with the score tied at 3-3.

The game set a new season's record for endurance in the American league and tied the mark made by the Giants and Cardinals in the senior circuit. On August 13 the White Sox dropped a 17-inning decision to the Tigers.

CLOSE FROM START.
From the start the fray was a closely-fought affair with Young Charlie Devens, of Harvard, and Milton Gaston pitching scoreless ball for eight innings and the veterans, Herb Penneck and Urban (Red) Faber, matching wits over the latter part of the contest. Devens cracked up in the ninth when the Sox tied the score at 1-1 and Gaston was removed for a pinch hitter in the 11th.

Each team connected with 11 hits, all singles. The Sox had a decided advantage in bases on balls, however, as Devens passed seven and Penneck eight in comparison to three issued by Gaston and two by Faber. The Yankee strikers struck out five between them while the Sox pitchers fanned six.

It was Devens' wildness that prevented the game from ending in the regulation nine innings with the Yankees winning, 3 to 0, as the result of a three-hit attack off Gaston in the first half of the ninth. With Al Simmons on first, Devens uncorked a wild pitch, permitting the Chicago outfielder to take the lead and get in position to score on Red Kress' long fly.

TIED AGAIN.
The Yankees scored twice more in the 11th on hits by Dixie Walker and Ben Chapman, a base on balls to Lou Gehrig and an infield out but the Sox came right back to again tie the count and then fall when they were in position to win.

Kress and Hayes led off with singles and advanced to third and second, respectively, on Ted Lyons' pinch sacrifice. Manager Lew Fonseca, a pinch hitter, was purposely passed. Evar Swann then came through with a single to tie the score but after Max Baer had walked to again fill the bases, Jimmy Dykes hit into a double play, in which Sam Jones, running for Fonseca, was caught at the plate and Dykes at first.

Through the remainder of the game Penneck and Faber were deadlocked in a pitching duel, allowing two hits and Penneck four runs.

The game will be played off when the Sox visit the Yankees at the stadium September 1.

DAIRYMEN CONFER WITH U. S. LEADERS

Imports Problem Attacked Preliminary To Drawing of National Rule.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—In preparation for a contemplated nationwide milk production control plan, representatives of dairymen's organizations today talked with farm administration officials about competing imports and what should be done about them.

The milk men and a spokesman for cottonseed oil manufacturers suggested three alternative plans, or a combination of the three.

A voluntary agreement by domestic manufacturers of oil and fat to use only domestic products until prices improve; an embargo or higher duty on foreign fats and oil; and a compensatory tax on products which compete with butter fat if a processing tax is levied on the latter.

The proposed voluntary agreement and embargo proposal apparently met with wide approval from the dairymen's representatives, but the importers of the foreign fats and oil either opposed or were lukewarm to the plan.

After hours of argument, Dr. Clyde L. King, of the farm administration, who presided, named committees to go over the situation and report back to him.

BANK MAY BE FORMED FOR SOVIET CREDITS

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The Evening Post says plans are under way for the formation of an acceptance bank whose main function would be the financing of American exports to Russia, with partial government guarantee.

COAL, AUTO CODES FOR NRA PROGRAM NEAR COMPLETION

economic emergency, a threat of darkened theaters was in the background as it began consideration of the Hollywood motion picture industry's strike.

Meeting with representatives of the International Alliance of Theater, Stage and Moving Picture Operators in a round of conferences scheduled to begin on Thursday, the board heard reports that operators in theaters throughout the country might be asked to strike in sympathy with the Hollywood workers.

The recovery administration received information that boot and shoe manufacturers had composed all but minor differences on a code but that rival labor groups were still far apart on what the code should provide.

Both the coal and automobile situations were still badly entangled tonight but Johnson was hopeful that an agreement would be obtained.

A tentative conference with John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and other labor leaders, he sought into the night to find a common meeting ground for his plans and the spokesmen for the miners. Once that is obtained he will carry the proposal to the operators.

How long it will take to compose these varying views was not certain, officials said, but added that the administration was determined to submit to President Roosevelt by Wednesday a bituminous coal code.

Johnson confirmed in a statement that he intended to turn the NRA program over to a permanent administrator when it is "sufficiently advanced to go back to my regular business."

He added, however, that it was impossible to tell when this would be. The administrator took the post at the request of President Roosevelt, only for the emergency period, and his intimates have disclosed that he hopes to be through before the end of the year but this is dependent upon the course the NRA takes.

Senator Schell, republican, Minnesota, in a statement struck out at Johnson's long affiliation with Bernard M. Baruch, close adviser to President Roosevelt, and asked an investigation of the financier and his associates.

"If the department fails in going to the bottom of an affair, I shall ask the senate to sift these connections," Schell said, adding that the NRA was an "unconstitutional quota system of reducing the production of factories while European imports come in."

Representatives of the automobile industry were summoned back to the capital tomorrow and at that time Robert W. Lee, the deputy administrator, was to lay before them a proposed revised code based upon the hearings last week.

It was understood to contain compromise labor provisions attempting to reconcile the manufacturers' demand for a stipulation that they could continue the open shop, or non-union, operation and the demand of labor that all except a plain statement of the act in this regard be deleted.

There was every indication that once these two major codes are added to the mounting list of entrants under the blue eagle banner that Johnson will turn to the fulfillment of his Labor Day goal.

By then, he has forecast that 5,000,000 or more new jobs will have been created, to be supplemented by the normal fall pick-up in business, and in carrying this through efforts are planned to reach every employer either with a permanent code or a temporary presidential agreement.

More than a score of hearings on permanent codes have been held, and a number of reports on these from deputy administrators have been dumped up as Johnson busied himself entirely with the basic industries.

Most of these are expected by officials to be approved formally within the next two weeks by President Roosevelt, adding to the 14 already in effect.

Once the coal code is made effective, however, Johnson will turn much of his attention to the automobile industry, where new troubles are believed by officials to lie in the labor provisions.

Hearings were held only last week on the code, and ordinarily several weeks have elapsed on the major chapters before an attempt was made for a final agreement. Johnson, though, wants to add this major industry to the growing list of those moving in the NRA program, and spokesmen for the manufacturers probably will be recalled for conferences within a few days.

No Discrimination. As the code now stands, it contains a clause that employees will be advanced without regard to their union or non-union affiliation. Johnson has indicated a belief in newspapermen that this is not in conflict with the recovery act's guarantee of collective bargaining for labor without interference on the type of organization the workers choose. On the other hand, Donald R. Ritchie, the general counsel of the NRA, stands on his oft-stated position that no modification or even interpretation of the act should be included in the code.

Let one modifying clause be incorporated, he said, and both labor and capital would seek additional wording favorable to their groups. The outcome of this battle on the code for the industry, which has been largely non-union, is expected to settle the question for the future. If the interpretative clause remains, other industries will seek the same wording for their codes.

Qualifications Stricken. To the present, however, all qualifications have been stricken out by the administration, including a provision in the steel charter that its company union plan of organization fulfill the law's intent. Once these obstacles are cleared, Johnson will turn to the nation-wide drive set to begin next week to have all consumers patronize establishments showing the blue eagle, and to the task of compelling observance of codes.

The response of the nation to this phase of the campaign has been described by Johnson as the key to success, and every publicity and education process known to the artists of propaganda is to be resorted to.

Through the newspapers on the motion picture screen, and in house-to-house, store-to-store canvasses, efforts will be made to reach every person in the country with the message to "buy now" and "buy under the blue eagle."

In addition, business establishments will be warned that where failure to comply with the requirements of the blue eagle are found it will be withdrawn, and Johnson believes the taking away of the NRA insignia will be "an economic death sentence" for the violation.

U. S. TREASURY ISSUE IS OVERSUBSCRIBED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The treasury department announced tonight subscriptions for $60,000,000 in 91-day bills dated August 23 and maturing November 22 had totaled $286,370,000 and that $80,000,000 was accepted. The accepted bids ranged in price from 99-952, equivalent to a rate of about 19 per cent a year to 99-043, equivalent to a rate of about 23 per cent a year.

POLICE YEAR BOOK SYSTEM ATTACKED

Committee Condemns 'Courtesy Card' Issuance and Scores Sturdivant.

Condemnation of the police "courtesy card" system and solicitation of funds for the police annual, and possible civil action to recover funds which may be in the possession of the police department were recommended to the city council in meeting Monday by the special committee appointed to investigate the police raid.

The report filed by the committee recommended continued grand jury investigation and contained a request for Police Chief Sturdivant to use of his name by advertising solicitors who contacted businessmen by telephone.

The report set out that if the use of the chief's name without his consent, "he could easily have learned of the practice and stopped it." It condemned the issuance of courtesy cards to advertisers in the police annual and asked that it be discontinued.

Going further into the police year-book matter, the committee said department stationery should never be used in the solicitation of funds. The department should not use funds without the express permission of mayor and council, the committee ruled.

The report also recommended that the contract between the police department and the firm of Krein & Daly, publishers of the annual, be canceled. The contract, whereby the department received 75 per cent of the gross proceeds, but pay all publication costs, has four more years to run. The committee was asked to study the contract carefully and to report if there is any cause for civil action.

The grand jury began an investigation of the matter several days ago and the committee urged that the probe be continued. The report also condemned the practice of soliciting funds by policemen on duty.

Members of the committee signing the report were Councilman Milam, chairman; Councilmen Lyle, Cuba, Rantin and Sutton.

LAUNDRIES BOOST WAGES, PAY ROLLS UNDER NRA CODE

and Robert Troutman, who will direct the canvass.

Figures compiled by the department of commerce Monday showed that 291 firms had signed during the day, affecting 6,284 employees. The total to date is 17,804 signed, affecting 139,625 employees. Postmaster E. K. Large said 183 certificates of compliance were issued Monday, bringing the total to 4,092 to date.

W. L. Mitchell, district manager of the department of commerce, said there was some misunderstanding regarding commission workers.

"On all part-time or full-time commission work," he said, "employers must guarantee the workers the minimum wage as set forth under the blanket agreement or under a permanent or temporary code if the business is in a group which has adopted one."

He said such workers as salesmen, clerks, bootblacks, barbers, taxicab drivers, curb-service workers and others on commission pay will draw the minimum as provided in the agreement—regardless of whether or not their employees earn the full sum.

The largest signing of an agreement in Atlanta Monday was Atlanta Laundries, Inc., a chain operating 10 laundries and employing 1,450 workers.

Mrs. Max E. Land, chairman of the women's division, announced plans whereby 10,000 women affiliated with women's clubs in the city would agree to sign a consumers' pledge and secure the signatures of six neighbors to bring the 60,000 women in the city into the blue eagle fold. Pledge cards are being printed, she said, and will be available Thursday.

Negro Makes Complaint. One of the few complaints about the NRA was heard Monday when Lucius Bronner, negro, complained that his wages at first were cut from $8.25 a week to $6.75 on a shorter day by an Atlanta pencil plant and that later he is informed if the employer must pay the minimum of the NRA, $12.50, he would get a younger man. Bronner said he was discharged Saturday.

Junior Chamber of Commerce said every worker in its group would bear an official identification to show he was a bona fide worker.

While speeches continued on radios during the first of the week two speeches were arranged for civic club meetings today. Ronald Ransom will talk on phases of the NRA before the Civic Club at the Atlanta Athletic Club at 12:30 today and Devereaux Lippett Jr. will talk before the Lions Club at the same hour at the Henry Gray hotel.

Among the meetings scheduled for tonight is that of Atlanta beauty show owners at 1012 Edgewood avenue.

ABDUCTION CHARGED TO CONNECTICUT MAN

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 21.—(AP)—A story of abduction told to police by Miss Margaret Grimes, 17-year-old high school student of Concord, Mass., led to the arrest Sunday of Francis W. Murphy, of Concord.

The girl approached Patrolman Richard Smith Sunday at the New Haven railroad station, and told him she had been kidnapped and brought here from Concord.

She said her abductor forced her into an automobile as she was standing on a street corner Saturday night, and drove her away. The automobile broke down in Boston, she reported, and from there the man took her in a bus.

The girl said they arrived in New Haven about 5 o'clock this morning, and that the man took her to a hotel, where they were registered as man and wife.

She said she had escaped from the hotel after the man fell asleep, and had come to the railroad station seeking protection.

ABDUCTION EFFORT LAID TO HEDBERG

Chiropractor Found Drugged in Railroad Yard at St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Dr. W. H. Hedberg was semi-conscious in a hospital tonight as police awaited his recovery for questioning concerning two mysterious happenings involving the chiropractor.

One involved Dr. E. J. Engberg, St. Paul physician and secretary of the Minnesota board of medical examiners, who was lured from his home by a fake telephone call July 12, last, and drugged when he refused to perform a mutilating operation on another man.

M. F. Kinkead, Ramsey county attorney, announced today, however, that the chiropractor had been identified by Dr. Engberg as his abductor. Both Engberg and Hedberg escaped that ordeal without serious injuries though Hedberg was wounded in the ear.

In his story to police afterward, Hedberg said he was the man upon whom the operation was to have been performed and that he suffered the wound in struggling with his captors.

The latest incident enmeshing the chiropractor occurred either Saturday night or Sunday morning. Last seen Saturday night, Hedberg was found early Sunday in the railroad yards with several scratches on his chest and apparently drugged.

Irving Kushner, in charge of the United States narcotic office here, said he had been told Hedberg was under the influence of a habit-forming drug which does not come under the Harrison anti-narcotic law.

An inquest was set for tomorrow morning. At that time all the information obtained from Schaab, a driver for the D. H. Horning Company of Angola, Ind., a subsidiary of the Western Express Trucking Company, will be considered, the coroner said.

Arkansas Banks Limit Cash To Foil Bandits

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 21.—(AP)—State banks today went under the drastic order of the state bank commissioner, Marion Wasson, prohibiting them from carrying cash on hand of more than 1 per cent of their total deposits.

Determined, he said, to stop bank robberies which number this year more than 90 Mr. Wasson exercised authority granted him under a 1933 legislative act to force banks to "take the profit out of banditry."

Under his regulations banks accepting deposits which aggregate in any day more than 1 per cent of their total deposits must place the excess cash under time lock. While this is being done, they either must lock the doors of the bank or station two armed guards at the entrances.

Louis H. Rector Killed, Others Hurt in Crash

Louis H. Rector, 35, of 1393 West Peachtree street, southern manager of Ditto, Inc., was killed and several others were injured Monday afternoon in an automobile accident on the Dixie highway, near Cartersville.

Rector received injuries which caused his death two hours later in Cartersville hospital when his car, driven by a negro chauffeur, collided with the machine of Miss Lucile Bachman, of Three Rivers, Mich. The Atlanta man was thrown through the glass of his car and landed on the pavement. George Lattimer, the driver, was not seriously hurt.

Miss Elizabeth Bachman, sister of the driver of the Bachman car, was seriously injured when her left leg, at the ankle, was crushed. Her brother, Henry E. Bachman, was less seriously hurt. Passing motorists brought Rector and the Bachmans to the Cartersville hospital.

Memphis is named to lumber code job. Relatives said they were advised today of the selection of C. Arthur Bruce, of Memphis, as executive officer of the newly formed Lumber Code Authority, Inc.

Tennant, of the state of Washington, is chairman of the Lumber Code Authority, but it is understood here that details of the work will be in charge of Mr. Bruce, vice president of E. L. Mr. Bruce was the unsuccessful republican candidate for governor of Tennessee in 1930.

STATE TO DEMAND LAMSON'S DEATH

Young Husband Goes on Trial in Sensational Stanford Campus Case.

SAN JOSE, Cal., Aug. 21.—(AP)—The death penalty will be demanded in the trial of David A. Lamson, accused of the murder of his pretty young wife, Allene Thorpe Lamson, the prosecution announced today after indicating the state's case would continue to be of a circumstantial nature.

Lamson, 31-year-old representative of the Stanford University Publishing House, went on trial this morning. He came into court smiling and with a confident air.

His 28-year-old wife, Y. W. C. A. secretary at Stanford, was found in the bathtub of their home on the University campus last Memorial Day with her head crushed.

Since that day the defendant, except to enter a not guilty plea, has made no statement for public record. Indications were that at least several days would be required to obtain a jury.

Assistant District Attorney Allan P. Lindsay announced the death penalty would be asked.

The case has been surrounded with mystery since Lamson burst from home on the Stanford campus as a cry: "My God, my wife has been murdered."

Of the 12 prospective talesmen seated in the morning court session but two were questioned and temporarily passed. Another, was excused for cause.

Each prospective juror was questioned at length concerning his opinion of inflicting the death penalty.

CARRIES ALL-BRAN ON EVERY VOYAGE

Seaman Finds This Delicious Cereal Relieves Constipation

Here is an unsolicited letter from Mr. Darragh:

"I have been going to sea for the past fourteen years. Every trip, I underwent severe headaches, nervousness, and sleeplessness. Tried all sorts of remedies, and received only temporary relief.

"So hearing about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN thought I would get a box, which I did. That was six months ago, haven't been without it at home, and when I go to sea a box of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is always with me."—George D. Darragh, 1914 32nd Avenue, Oakland, California.

Tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things for common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

How much pleasant it is than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Two tablespoonsful of ALL-BRAN daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal or use in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

LAST INSTALLMENT.

"I haven't said half of it! Where would you be if you didn't have your father's money? You couldn't earn a living if you tried."

"You've said enough, haven't you?"

"Yes," said Abby, "I've said enough and now I'm going—going back to work."

"I see," Rod said numbly.

And Abby did. Steve was only too glad to get Abby. Fane back in the Club Biarritz. The next day after Abby's name was again in lights, the newspapers' largest headlines proclaimed to the world Abby's and Rod's separation. Like flares plunged into a night sky, so did the headlines illuminate the story for an avid public. Abby became more popular than ever, more of a drawing card for Steve's club.

Then Rod came to see Abby. The visit was not for reconciliation purposes, for Rod—perhaps, egged on by the Deane family—came with more selfish motives. The exploitation of the Deane name in connection with Abby was bad for the social status that clear. Abby was infuriated. She had asked for no quarter and now she would show none. Everything that was going to be printed would be printed. No matter what Rodney Deane—or any other Deane—could say! Or do!

Rod returned to the apartment dispirited. The whole place was dismantled, pictures down, furniture wrapped for storage, rugs rolled up—all ready to be sold. He was only home a few minutes when the doorbell rang. It was his father and brother. "Rod," said the elder Deane, "I've got to ask your help."

"If it's about Abby—no. I'm sorry."

"Look here, Rod. The girl blames us for your separation. She's bitter—her hatred for us seems to be more important to her than money—at the moment. However, I think if we offered her enough she'd listen to reason."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Preston—but with no experience. . . . A college education isn't so important in the business world, young man. We need men with business education."

"I'm sure I could make good if I had the chance," Rod pleaded.

"I don't doubt that, but we haven't time to waste in training."

Rod was discouraged. "I see."

"I'm sorry—I hope we can place you sometime."

"Thank you," Rod turned to go, changed his mind and turned back. "Listen, Mr. Conover, I don't want to keep anybody else out of a job, but I'll work twice as hard—and you won't have to tell me if I'm no good—I'll know. You just give me a chance—that's all I want."

"That's all they want," Conover nodded toward the door, where some twenty men were waiting to be interviewed for the job.

Rod was desperate. "But they can get other jobs—they have experience—it's tough for me. You can see that yourself. Look, Mr. Conover—let me take the gamble. Don't pay me any-

son. You can appeal to her sense of fairness."

"I told you how I felt about that—and I haven't changed my mind," Rod was adamant. Deane exploded. "But the girl's making a byword of our name—your name."

"I don't blame her," said Rod quietly.

"What's that you say?"

"I think she's entirely right."

Deane's face grew red. "Rod, I've given you everything that a son could ask for. You've never wanted for anything in your life."

"That's true, Dad, according to your values."

"According to my values. I'm not asking gratitude, Rod. I'm reminding you of your obligation to your family."

"I'm sorry. I just don't feel any. Don't you see, Dad, it's your name and money that ruined me—and my marriage?"

"Do you believe that?"

"I've got to believe it. She saw it and tried to help me. I couldn't make the grade. I quit. But this time I won't. So I'm going on—minus you—minus all this. I'm sorry, Dad. I hope you'll see it my way some time. And—thanks. It was swell while it lasted."

A job for an inexperienced man was a hard thing to find. Rod went from office to office, from agency to agency—to no avail. He scanned the help wanted columns, but employers didn't want men with no experience.

Rod, not wishing to get by on the Deane name, called himself Preston—Mr. Preston. One businessman was a little more frank with Rod than the others.

CANDLER PLANNING QUIET OBSERVANCE OF 76TH BIRTHDAY

Though he "has quit having birthdays," Bishop Warren A. Candler, senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Monday paused long enough in preparations for a visit to Oxford to say he was feeling fine and that he would celebrate his seventy-sixth birthday anniversary Wednesday "trying to be religious." He spent the day with friends at Emory Academy, in Oxford, where he was a student of old Emory College, and later president of the institution.

Bishop Candler was born August 23, 1857, in Villa Rica, Ga., and since early manhood has been one of the leading spirits in his church. Though not as active physically as has been in years gone by, the bishop preaches many sermons and appears to be in good health at present.

As in other years, his family and friends will defer to his wishes that no formal celebration of the anniversary be held and the bishop will spend the day reading hundreds of telegrams and letters of congratulation and reviewing his friends at the residence on North Decatur road.

NEW RELIEF PLAN SEEKS PURCHASE OF COTTON BY U. S.

A plan for relief of southern farmers submitted Monday to C. C. Adams, Georgia commissioner of agriculture, by Ray Burt, of Douglasville, will be turned over to the governors and commissioners of agriculture of the cotton states at their conference in Washington, Adams said. "Out of all the plans submitted by friends of the cotton growers, I am sure there will come something good," Adams said.

Burt's plan involves the purchase of all cotton by the federal government at 15 cents a pound, and its sale to manufacturers at 16 cents a pound, the 1-cent difference going to the government as a tax for handling the cotton. Burt proposes the issuance of $1,000,000,000 of greenback currency for the purchase of the cotton, and the control of subsequent crops by an allotment plan for growers.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I've tried travel, outside interests, a variety of people, new beaux, everything, but I am hopelessly unhappy over the loss of a man's love. There is no pleasure in life without him. I can't fasten my mind on any topic that doesn't revolve about him. In one way or another I must get him back. Since I have done everything I can think of to do, and without success, I must have help. Can you give it?

PAT.

Answer: When you enter the hospital to have an appendix taken out, doctors and nurses, friends and acquaintances are ready to assure you that it is a very simple operation. "No pain to speak of," they say, "a short term in the hospital—just an annoying experience soon over and soon forgot." From the standpoint of these would-be consolers every word they say is true. But from the standpoint of the patient who must undergo the experience, not a word of it is true. There is a great deal of pain in connection with an operation; the days drag interminably when one is sick and suffering; the experience is not soon over and not so soon forgot. But when the appendix is involved to such an extent that the surgeon orders it taken out, the experience must be gone through and the patient must summon what fortitude he can.

So it seems rather unkind to tell you that the anguish you are now enduring must be gone through, that there is no escape from it, that it will soon be over and soon forgot, the time for the cure depending upon the fortitude which you are able to summon and the will power you are able to bring to bear upon your sick heart. Yet all of this is true. When a woman has done her utmost and failed to recapture the interest of a man who has once loved her and then ceased to love her, no outsider can give her any magic formula with which to conjure back the lost love. The most an outsider can do is to point out to her the utter uselessness of her struggle and the willingness of her surrender to despair. No woman ever got a man's love by begging for it. Occasionally some tender-hearted woman is tricked into matrimony by the opportunity of some zealous lover. But a man is not so easily moved to compassion. This disposes of any plan to talk the dead love back to life. And talk is a woman's only weapon under such circumstances.

Unrequited love is a bitter dose which will power you are able to summon and the will power you are able to bring to bear upon your sick heart. Yet all of this is true. When a woman has done her utmost and failed to recapture the interest of a man who has once loved her and then ceased to love her, no outsider can give her any magic formula with which to conjure back the lost love. The most an outsider can do is to point out to her the utter uselessness of her struggle and the willingness of her surrender to despair. No woman ever got a man's love by begging for it. Occasionally some tender-hearted woman is tricked into matrimony by the opportunity of some zealous lover. But a man is not so easily moved to compassion. This disposes of any plan to talk the dead love back to life. And talk is a woman's only weapon under such circumstances.

But so is the death of a loved one a bitter dose that sooner or later everyone has to swallow. Some lie down and sulk and scream and swear for them is over, that they have no desire to live or love again. After all, this is a cowardly attitude and one that does not tend to assuage grief. There is a better way to meet sorrow and disappointment and bereavement. It is the way of serene faith, of hope for a brighter future, and of resolve to make the best of an unhappy situation that is beyond control. Try this better way and find it immeasurably more satisfactory than "kicking against the pricks."

NANCY PAGE

Want a Pershing Quilt for the Boy's Room?

BY FLORENCE La GANKE.

"Quilts have been given many names by quilt makers but seldom is one named after a quilt maker's husband. But we have a Pershing quilt named by Mrs. Scott, of Colorado Springs. She says that it is a particular favorite with her husband and for that reason she is calling it by his name."

The Nancy Page quilt club members decided this was a good enough reason for anyone. There are three colors used in the quilt. The back show a design of straight lines and small figures may be in a print of a deeper shade.

Or the center square may be green, the four large triangles touching the square may be of pink and white print, the dark ones of green and all the remainder of the shirting. Nancy cautioned the women, though, lest the shirting be so heavy that it would prove difficult to quilt.

The club members sent for the life-size pattern. No seam allowance was made in pattern so in cutting the material they allowed one-quarter inch on all sides.

They were careful to cut the pieces true and straight and from color-fast material.

This block may be set together on the diagonal. It may have strips or sash work between the blocks or it may be made into an all-over pattern.

Mrs. Smith wanted to make her quilt in red, white and blue. "I think those would be appropriate colors for a Pershing quilt, don't you?" And Nancy agreed that they would. For a single bed make the quilt 98 or 108 inches long. Have it 72 inches wide. For a three-quarter size bed have the width equal 82 inches. For a double bed make it 90 inches wide. The length remains the same regardless of the width of the bed.

The actual pattern for the "Pershing" Quilt Design may be obtained by sending 3 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Nancy Page in care of The Atlanta Constitution. Back patterns may be secured by sending an additional 5 cents for each pattern requested.

TARZAN THE APE MAN No. 128

As Tarzan gave the word to his elephant to move on, he turned to order the one on which Jean and Holt sat, to follow. It was then that he saw blood oozing from a great wound in his elephant's side where a large arrow was deeply imbedded.

The two elephants started after the herd, returning toward the jungle. The one carrying Jean and Holt took the lead as Tarzan's elephant slowed down. Tarzan looked around, worried. He gave a cry, whereupon the whole herd stopped.

Jean looked back, saying to Holt: "He's stopped them. Something's wrong." Tarzan had leaped off his elephant and it tumbled to the ground. With a tremendous pull, he wrenched out the poisoned arrow from the animal's side and shook his head, thoughtfully.

Jean and Holt watched him intently. "Tarzan, what is it?" called Jean. "Oh, he's wounded," she exclaimed as Tarzan threw away the arrow. There was a restless, disturbed feeling evident among the other elephants and Tarzan again shook his head, looking worried.

DEATH LIST GROWS IN COAST STORM

Hundreds Rescued as Fresh Winds Revive Waves' Fury.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(UP)—Lashed by the second severe storm within 24 hours, the middle Atlantic coast tonight counted its dead at 11 to 20, with five boats still missing in the wave-tossed seas between Sandy Hook and Cape May.

Coast guardsmen, their work severely hampered by gales of increasing force, reported that they had rescued more than 200 persons from foundering vessels, and that they had towed nearly 50 yachts to safety since yesterday.

The weather bureau warned that the coast line from Cape Hatteras to Boston tonight faced the prospect of further dangerous storms, with a tropical storm of great intensity moving northward from a point near Bermuda.

The bureau in Washington ordered storm warnings posted and advised caution for all shipping in the affected area. A second tropical disturbance with strong shifting winds was reported moving west-northwestward from a center 200 miles southwest of Jamaica.

Among the boats still missing, according to coast guard officials, were the Luna, the Jimmy and the Frank Rickard, carrying between 20 and 40 persons.

The storm wrought havoc on the many beaches which dot the Jersey coast, and the Jersey shore line was in places completely submerged.

Most of the sea disasters occurred on small fishing boats which are numerous in the coastal waters between New York and Cape May. Caught in the heavy seas and high winds, crews in many instances were unable to control them and had to depend on the coast guard boats to rescue them.

Aviation in the New York area virtually was at a standstill today and airport officials warned fliers preparing to make long aerial journeys to New York to postpone their departure.

SMALL CRAFT HOLD BERTHS. AS STORM GROWS WORSE ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Small craft along the Jersey coast hugged their berths tonight as the storm, already responsible for seven lives, rose in intensity.

Storm warnings, issued by the weather bureau in Washington, indicated that the storm would continue to move northward.

Mass Wedding Is Held For 130 Nazi Couples

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—(UP)—A mass wedding for 130 Nazi couples took place here Sunday.

The 260 persons collectively responded, "I do," to the Nazi pastor in a local church, while hundreds of curious looked on at the unusual spectacle.

Several Nazi officials attended. cated the heaviest blows would fall late tonight or early tomorrow, the wind increasing in velocity to a gale.

Coast guardsmen, patrolling the perilous seas, which hourly cast up fresh pieces of wreckage, urged the owners of small boats to stay ashore.

They were also trying late today to identify a capsized skiff, carrying the license No. L-8042, which was washed ashore at Ocean City. Its occupants have not been accounted for, and it is feared they may have been lost.

Four of the bodies of those who were lost have been recovered. They are Captain Theodore Van Sant, 58, veteran fishing boat skipper; Louis Williams, 55, of Margate City; Harry R. Schmidt, 33, of Camden, and Dr. Charles McArthur, 57, of South Orange, physician and amateur painter.

The bodies of Richard "Soph" Bruner, 33, captain of the Memora; Wilbur Lukens, of Philadelphia, and Harold Litcher, 42, Philadelphia, who was summering at Longport, are missing.

ENGINEER REPORTED LOST WHEN TUG FOUNDERS BALTIMORE, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The tug Point Breeze, hauling scows from a dredging project in the Chesapeake bay, sank early today off Seven-Foot Knoll. The chief engineer was reported lost.

BERMUDA CAPITAL HOPES TO ESCAPE HURRICANE HAMMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Although the island sometimes reached a velocity of 80 miles per hour, residents of this city tonight expected a hurricane southwest of here to pass to the south.

A meteorological report said the center of the disturbance was moving at a rate of approximately 10 miles per hour. Large crowds were attracted to the beach by the mountainous waves, but no damage was reported.

No boats due to arrive today were able to dock. The Monarch of Bermuda and the Southern Cross still were here to off the island and were not expected to make port until tomorrow morning. Latest reports from the California, due here with 800 passengers this morning, said it also was to arrive tomorrow.

Storm warnings, issued by the weather bureau in Washington, indicated that the storm would continue to move northward.

NO GRAIN DUMPING PLEDGED BY U. S.

World Conference Opens at London in Effort to Curtail Wheat Supply.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—The United States will not resort to dumping to get rid of its surplus wheat if other nations fail to agree on a program to restrict production and exports, Frederick E. Murphy, American delegate, said today as the world wheat conference resumed its work.

Representatives of more than a score of nations gathered here to continue negotiations begun in Geneva last May and carried on concurrently with the world economic conference during June and July.

Mr. Murphy, publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune, asserted there was no idea of upsetting the market by dumping article by article at a Stateside export, to get rid of its surplus. He explained this was similar to dumping but that it would not involve abnormal shipments.

Premier R. B. Bennett, of Canada, was elected chairman when the conference opened in Canada House. A committee was appointed to discuss the problem of establishing an international committee which would act as a permanent board in connection with any wheat agreement and probably have headquarters in London.

Another committee, technical in nature, met this afternoon to consider a draft agreement which was being prepared by the United States and the United Kingdom. The pact would bind importing nations to increase their purchases by not encouraging increased domestic production, to preserve the quality of breadstuffs, to prepare to adjust customs tariffs and to declare in principle for modification of import restrictions.

RUSSIAN CHILDREN TO AID IN GUARDING RED GRAIN MOSCOW, Aug. 21.—(AP)—About 100,000 children are being organized in "light cavalry detachments" to guard against grain thefts and retrieve stray kernels dropped by harvesters in the north Caucasus fields.

The government is providing shelter and food on the collective farms for these youthful organizations charged with protecting "the socialist crop." Rewards of 1,000 suits of clothing are to be distributed to the more energetic.

Children from the ages of 10 to 16 years are to guard against depredations by kulaks (prosperous peasants) or other disloyal elements and report such actions. Other children, from six to 10 years old, are to pick up stray grain lost by the reapers.

One nine-year-old boy, Mischa Sorokin, has been awarded a new set of textbooks and stationery for denouncing and causing the arrest of his own father. The older Sorokin, the child's father, had been accused of hoarding grain, took more grain than was charged him from the common store.

NEW CONFERENCE SEEN FOR WHEAT CONFERENCE WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Officials of the agriculture adjustment administration indicated new confidence in prospects for an international wheat agreement today after the reopening of the London wheat conference.

At the same time they were represented as seeking no conflict in the recently announced program of Secretary Wallace for "subsidized exports" of the grain and a statement made at the conference by the American delegate that the United States will not resort to dumping to get rid of its surplus wheat if other nations fail to agree.

His declaration had little effect on an analysis of the wheat situation today, was represented as being convinced that subsidizing exports of Pacific northwest wheat to the orient would not be "dumping."

ALLEGIANCE TO HITLER PLEDGED BY CATHOLICS BERLIN, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Thousands of Catholic youths of the Berlin bishopric gathered Sunday at Neukölln stadium and pledged allegiance to Chancellor Adolf Hitler.

Vicar General Steinmann, representing Bishop Schreiber, who was ill, expressed thanks to the chancellor and Pope Pius for the concordat recently negotiated at Vatican City.

"Our chancellor has been appointed by God," he declared. "There must be no antagonism between the church and the state; the future which will embrace both. Catholic youth will help the fatherland to rise again to greatness and glory."

FULL EMBARGO URGED ON FOREIGN PRODUCTS WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—(AP)—A complete embargo on all foreign products competing with American manufactures was called for Sunday by Senator Thomas D. Schaal, republican, Minnesota, in view of the administration's price lifting program.

The Minnesota asserted the "high" American tariff really has become lower than "the low tariff heretofore advocated by democratic administrations."

"We are now," he added, "actually confronting a system of free trade due to currency depreciation."

Not Showman or Actress Says Aimee McPherson

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Aimee McPherson Hutton, "another showman or actress," she declared with emphasis Sunday in telling a set-to with George Clausen, president of the Cedar Rapids Bar Association.

The debate occurred Saturday at a dinner meeting of county lawyers which Mrs. Hutton addressed and at which Clausen introduced her. She said, as a "good actress and a clever showman."

Mrs. Hutton preferred to accept the challenge as concerning her religion rather than herself, declaring Clausen's attitude put "Christ under fire."
